AXIS STALLED IN EAST LIBYA

British Demand 'Inquest' of Bitter Libyan Defeat

LONDON—Growing out of bitter disillusionment over the defeat of the British Eighth army in Libya today came demands that the house of commons hold an inquest over the disastrous campaign.

While German broadcasts boasted that Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was ready to sweep into Egypt after driving the British back to that country's border and besieging Tobruk for a second time, the Daily Mail said:

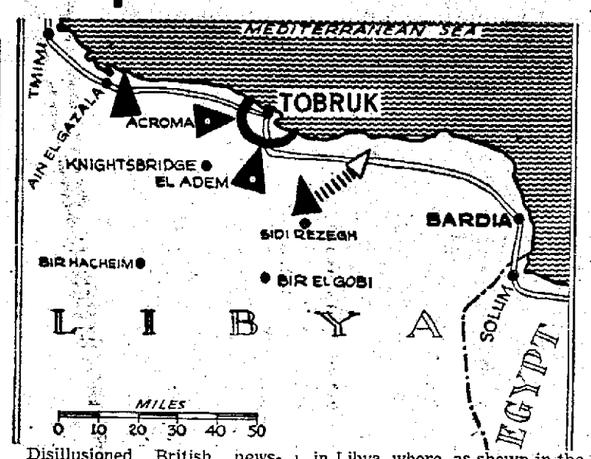
"The enemy knows why he won the battle. We have a right to know why we lost it."

The same newspaper charged that most of the tanks of the Eighth army are obsolete and added:

"Even the American-made 'General Grant' tanks that reinforced the British equipment are probably the earlier experimental types and cannot be compared with machines of this type which are now being turned out by American factories."

The Mail's comments were only part of a chorus of newspaper criticism.

"Quite simply and bluntly," the Evening News summed up Britain's repeated frustrations in Libya, "the reason is that from the beginning we have underestimated the strength, cunning, resources and recuperative power of the enemy."



Disillusioned British newspapers and public today were demanding that the house of commons air causes for the defeat of the British Eighth army in Libya, where, as shown in the map above, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Axis forces have surrounded Tobruk and driven the main British force back to Egypt.

In broad terms, the unconsoling analysis of British military critics was that the British Eighth army lacked what it needed to stem Rommel's thrust—foresight to gauge the enemy's strength correctly, adequate armored equipment and the skill to use what it had to best advantage.

A week ago Britons were assured the battle was going satisfactorily, and only a few subdued voices uttered reminders of other reversals in the wild desert fighting of the past two years.

Thus the public was not prepared for the abrupt discovery that the British "strong points" had become traps from which troops were forced to flee, and the public was not consoled when correspondents reported Rommel lacked sufficient gasoline to push his tanks on into Egypt.

The whole story has not come yet from the battlefields but from available information military experts drew these conclusions:

1—Lieut. Gen. Neil M. Ritchie, commander of the British Eighth army, lacked sufficient number of United States 28-ton tanks. When the excellent 88-millimeter guns of the Germans knocked many of them out of action, the British had to depend too much on

Thrust Halted; Nazis Smash At Sevastopol

Fresh Guns, Planes Thrown Against Red Fortress In Crimea.

BULLETIN

NEW YORK—(AP)—The British Broadcasting corporation quoted its Moscow correspondent, Paul Winterton, today as saying the "Germans have reached a high road leading to Sevastopol" and "the danger is very great." CBS heard the report.

(By United Press)

MOSCOW—Germany hurled fresh guns and planes into the entire Sevastopol area today, ignoring losses as high as 60 per cent, in an attempt to overwhelm the fortress by the first anniversary Monday of Adolf Hitler's "60-day campaign" in Russia.

Special front dispatches reported that the entire area was shaking under the terrific impact of big gun shells and airplane bombs in an attack which never ceased day or night.

The garrison was battling desperately in an attempt to stem the several German divisions and heavy tanks hammering at the northern fortifications.

"Our warriors are defending with their own bodies every yard of Soviet land," Pravada's dispatch from the front said.

Axis forces concentrated the main weight of their attack on the northern sector, trying to break through to the city, but in every sector fighting was on an unprecedented scale.

Ships of the Russian Black Sea fleet, standing off the coast, shelled Axis concentrations and raced through heavy enemy fire to de-

Mechanized Force Turned Back by Strong British Opposition.

(By International News Service)

CAIRO—Axis mechanized columns in eastern Libya have been forced to turn back to the west after meeting strong British opposition, the Middle East high command announced today.

German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's advanced forces, moving eastward in two columns, were forced to retrace their steps after pushing to within 25 miles of the easternmost Libyan port of Bardia.

The official British communique said:

"British forces yesterday engaged the enemy who had been advancing eastwards in two main columns.

"The enemy did not press the advance, both columns turning back westward after they were within 25 miles of Bardia."

(In London an authoritative British spokesman said that the Axis forces may be retiring in an effort to reorganize for a full scale attack either against Solum on the Egyptian frontier or against Tobruk. It was not believed, he said, that the Axis is strong enough to do both simultaneously.)

British mobile columns from southern desert areas struck northward to pin the Axis mechanized forces in the coastal strip running east to the Egyptian frontier from Tobruk.

The big guns on the British-held fortified port of Tobruk meanwhile opened fire on Nazi Africa corps forces which encircled the Mediterranean coast bastion to begin a new siege. Tobruk was isolated when the Axis drove

NEARS VOTE ON PAY DEDUCTION

House Committee to Decide On Pay-As-You-Go Income Tax Plan.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The house ways and means committee today moved toward a final show-down vote on whether or not a salary deduction plan should be incorporated into the war-revenue bill to collect personal income taxes on a pay-as-you-earn basis.

It is understood that the committee will complete its work on the bill—now calling for $6,650,000,000 in additional federal revenues—by Wednesday, and the parliamentary road will be cleared so the measure can come before the house for debate by July 6.

Treasury experts have placed before the committee a new plan for collecting personal taxes at the source which would ease the burden of having to pay two years' taxes in one year.

It was pointed out that taxes on 1942 incomes will not come due until March 15, 1943 under present laws, and should a withholding tax be adopted, persons would have to pay 1942 taxes at the same time that the government was forcing weekly salary deductions to apply against 1943 taxes.

To meet this criticism, the treasury proposed that half of deductions, which would begin on Jan. 1, next, could be applied against 1942 taxes, and the same procedure may be followed in 1944. By this method, the doubling up of tax payments would be at least partially avoided, and the additional year's taxes spread over a two-year period.

Should this plan be adopted, the federal government would withhold 10 per cent of the estimated taxable net income of all personal incomes. In case of salaries and wages, the 10 per cent would be deducted each pay day by the employer and turned directly into the treasury. A similar portion of dividends and interest on stocks and bonds would be withheld as they are paid. In the case of

Board Members Order Supplies For 2 Elections

The August primary is more than seven weeks away and it's nearly five months until the November election, but the Richland county board of elections is almost ready for both of them.

Meeting late yesterday, the board ordered its poll books and supplies for the primary and fall election, asked for bids on ballots, and submitted its budget request for 1943 to the county budget commission.

Low bidder on the supplies was the Johnson-Watson company, Dayton, which received the order. The supplies will cost $994. Other bidders were the Columbus Blank Book company, Columbus, which asked $1,120, and the Fred Procter company, Cincinnati, asking $1,283.

The board seeks $24,325 to cover its expenses for next year, ap-

Fair or No Fair? Plans Up In Air

County Board Awaiting Official Word for Cancellation.

The Richland county fair board was awaiting official word from Washington today before cancelling the 1942 fair, but board members expressed a willingness to cooperate with the federal government in the tire-saving program and said they would comply with any request to call off the fair.

Meanwhile, a committee named by the Ohio Fair Managers' association planned to go to Washington to confer with Joseph B. Eastman, defense transportation director, who yesterday asked all state, county, and village fair boards to cancel their fairs for the duration of the war.

C. C. Hout, president of the Richland county fair board, said today that the board will take no action until it receives the association's report of the meeting with Eastman.

"We have our plans for the fair pretty well completed, but regardless of that, we will cheerfully comply with any official government order to cancel the fair to help save tires and gasoline," Hout said.

After talking with John T. Brown, state agriculture director, by telephone this morning, R. D. Hale, secretary of the Richland county board, said a meeting of the board probably will be called following the Ohio Fair association committee's conference in Washington with Eastman. The meeting is expected to be next week. The county board will decide the fate of the 1942 fair at its meeting.

Hout added that an attempt will be made to take care of the showing of 4-H club and Future Farmer projects if the fair, scheduled for Aug. 25-28, is cancelled.

The county board discussed the

CAREER ENDED

Gus Goldsmith, 73, Prominent Bucyrus Democrat, Dies.

BUCYRUS — A prominent Democrat with a long political career, Gus Goldsmith, 73, died at his home here Friday following a lingering illness.

A graduate of Ohio Northern university, Mr. Goldsmith taught music in Bucyrus schools in the early 1900's.

He was clerk of courts here from 1913 to 1916 and later served nine years as safety director, following a term as city treasurer.

During pre-prohibition days, he served as secretary of the state liquor licensing board; was secretary of the tax commission and later inspector in the state food and dairy division.

Surviving are his widow, Cora; a daughter, Lois, of Columbus, and a sister, Elizabeth Goldsmith, of Whetstone township.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Monday at the Wise Funeral home. Rev. J. H. Butler of Lakeside will officiate. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

Lucas Youth Relates Chapter 2 In Story of Coral Sea Battle

Home on Furlough, He Was In Bomber Which Attacked Japs.

By FRED ACKERMAN

This is the Mansfield area's Chapter II of the battle of the Coral Sea.

It is the story of the second youth from this sector to return from that historic clash, with an exciting account of a second phase of it.

Yesterday, Walter C. Clark, anti-aircraft gunner aboard the Lexington told of that ship's great struggle, and her last glorious hour.

Today, Walter F. Duncan tells the story of the attack of U. S. naval planes on Japanese carriers in the same Coral Sea action.

Duncan came home yesterday afternoon. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Duncan, Lucas R. D. 1.

At the time the Lexington was being bombed by the Japs, Duncan, 23, was with a squadron of dive bombers from the Lexington which was raiding a Jap aircraft carrier.

Young Duncan who served as rear gunner and radioman in a two-man naval bomber said that the squadron left the Jap carrier burning from stem to stern.

"I know that the plane I was in made at least one direct hit on the Japanese carrier.

"We started out at about 8 a. m., and finally came across our objective. We released our bombs and then started back to our carrier, dodging anti-aircraft fire and pursuit ships.

"Later in the afternoon we arrived 'home' to the Lexington but we could see from the air the damage that had ben inflicted on our carrier while we were away.

"We saw torpedo holes ripped in the side of the ship but otherwise she looked O. K.

"We came closer to land on her decks but then we got the signal not to land but to proceed to another U. S. carrier stationed in the nearby vicinity.

"When we landed on the other carrier we had only enough gas

Communist Party Will Contest Sweeney Ballot Ruling.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The Communist party is planning an appeal to the state supreme court from the decision of Secretary of State John E. Sweeney ruling Communist candidates off the Ohio election ballot, it was learned today.

Notice of appeal has been received by the state supreme court clerk from Arnold Johnson, Cleveland, the party secretary. The appeal will not be filed formally until the filing fee is received by the court.

New Group of Army Inductees Given Salute Today by 2,000

More than 2,000 Richland county residents were on hand this morning for Mansfield's 11th public send-off for a group of selectees departing for army service.

The group was made up of a bus load of men from each of the county's three draft boards. It was the last group of men to leave the county under the present system of immediate service for those who pass the physical examination at the army induction center.

Starting June 29, a new system will be initiated whereby entire contingents will be returned to their home cities immediately after their final physical at the induction centers—those who pass the examinations receiving an immediate two-week furlough.

Earl Saltzgaber, chairman of the Richland Victory Civic committee, which sponsors the "going-away" parties and send-off demonstrations, announced that in the future these two events

TRANSPORT HIT

Allied Fliers Score Three Times Against Jap Ship.

MELBOURNE — (U.P.) — Allied planes, in one of their heaviest raids of the war, in Australia, scored three bomb hits on a 10,000 ton Japanese transport at Rabaul yesterday, probably damaged other ships, smashed grounded enemy planes and showered the whole airdrome and dock area with bombs and bullets, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

They shot down one and probably two of seven Japanese Zero fighter planes and two seaplanes which attempted to intercept them, and returned to base.

MacArthur's communique reporting the raid indicated that it might have been the biggest so far in number of planes used.

TALKS FATEFUL TO CHURCHILL

Conversations Expected to Affect Prime Minister's Political Future.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill, continuing their historic conferences at a secret rendezvous somewhere in the United States, today were believed to be considering decisions which may have a far-reaching effect on outcome of the war and may influence Churchill's political future.

Reports from London said British reversals in Libya were generating political unrest and that Churchill's position in the British government may depend upon outcome of the conversations.

The talks, concerned mainly with "the war, the conduct of the war and the winning of the war," were seen here as having two primary purposes—establishment of a second European front and strengthening of Allied positions in North Africa.

Although no statement is expected on the conference—the third between Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill and their second since the United States joined Britain as an active ally after Pearl harbor—until the prime minister returns to London it was indicated the meeting will be brief. London said Churchill came here to make "lightning decisions" on conduct of the war.

The British withdrawal to the Egyptian frontier, leaving Tobruk again in a state of siege, was viewed in Washington circles as "serious, but far from desperate." These sources felt the development gave added urgency to the talks and that additional aid for

STAYS ON BOARD

Coordinator Bailey to Remain As Rationing Secretary.

James Bailey, Richland county rationing coordinator, will continue with the county rationing set-up as executive secretary, a paid position created with reorganization of the rationing system this week, he announced today.

The coordinator positions are abolished under the new ssytem, and in many cases these men have been requested to continue as executive secretary.

Reorganization was due to the increased work for rationing boards to handle. Two-week registration for canning sugar ended in Richland county yesterday, and the next major task is the handling of duties in connection with price ceilings. Bailey today issued a reminder that retailers must file copies of their March prices with the rationing board by July 1.

PROMISE: Cripps Says Allies To Invade West at Right Time

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—Hundreds of RAF fighter planes renewed their heavy assaults on the German-occupied coast of France today.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Britain and the United States will launch a great, successful attack on Hitler in the west when the proper time comes, Sir Stafford Cripps, parliamentary deputy for Prime Minister Churchill, declared today.

"We cannot say" when the attack will come, Sir Stafford told a meeting observing the anniversary on the June 22 German attack on Russia and the British-Soviet alliance.

"I am not going to help Hitler by telling him the time of the attack," Sir Stafford said, adding that Russian Foreign Commissar Molotov, who recently was in London, "knows much more about it than I can tell you."

The attack must not fail, he said.

Sir Stafford, who was Britain's ambassador to Russia at the time of the German invasion, praised the recent British-Russian pact as the "laying of a great foundation stone for the structure of the post-war world."

Among greetings sent to the meeting was this from Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Australia:

"Today the free peoples of a free world unite in salute to a great army and a great man who so nobly strive with us for victory of liberty and freedom."

Russian Marshal Semeon Timoshenko sent this message:

"I greet most warmly our English allies. . . . . The Red army

JITTERS: Nazis Say British Clear Big Area for Invasion

(By United Press)

LONDON—Germany had a seizure of invasion jitters today as it watched with evident interest the talks at Washington between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

It reported that Britain was clearing a big area of eastern England which would be a logical concentration point for invasion troops and warned that it was sowing a gigantic mine field to close off the entire Skagerrak, entrance to the Baltic sea.

The Berlin radio reported that persons "living within a certain district in the heart of East Anglia" were to be evacuated with all their belongings by July 20 by order of the British war office.

"The area in question is to be taken over by the British army," Berlin said. "Discussion of the measure is forbidden in Britain."

East Anglia is that port of England north and east of London directly opposite Holland and Belgium, an area in which hundreds of thousands of troops might be massed if a big scale continental invasion were undertaken.

The only word here regarding the area was a war office announcement that it had bought "several farms" in East Anglia to be used for "training areas," and a spokesman explained that naturally the area would be evacuated when "training" began.

No information was available concerning the size of the "farms" involved or of the total area.

The German announcement of new mining claimed that the entire outer sea from southwestern Norway to northeastern Denmark would be mined to a width of from 120 to 75 miles so as to close the Skaggerak.

War Vacation Tips In Sunday N-J

Don't sit under the apple tree and make any plans for a long vacation trip this summer. There's tire rationing, remember? There may even be gasoline rationing all over the nation as well as in the east. And Uncle Sam is apt to put a pretty heavy crimp in bus and train travel for pleasure.

But you can sit under the apple tree tomorrow and read your Sunday edition of the News-Journal and find out what a lot of Mansfielders are planning to do that will be restful and still save tires and gasoline. You can also find a description of a number of interesting and educational vacation spots close to Mansfield and some timely suggestions for ways to relax right in your own back yard.

Inland town though it is, Mansfield has a navy recruiting station that naval officials rank as "tops" in the number and quality of men it enlists. A feature story tomorrow gives you the history of the local office and tells you about its exceptional record.

There will be three exceptional groups of pictures in the Sunday edition, too:

Some 60 odd additional pictures of men from the Mansfield area who are in the armed services of the United States.

Photographs of young pheasants being placed on the Ohio State reformatory grounds at the start of a wildlife propagation program.

And a layout of pictures showing how those luscious strawberries you've been enjoying for the past two weeks get out of the patch and into the handy cartons that reach your kitchen table.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Wide World War Analyst)

There seems to be no reason to doubt the report from competent quarters in London that British Premier Churchill, now in this country conferring with President Roosevelt, is urging that the United States provide reinforcements to stabilize the Mediterranean front, since that would be a logical request in view of the latest developments.

Loss of control of this zone—one of the foundation stones of Britains strength—might cost the Allies the war.

The eastern Mediterranean — taking in Egypt and the Suez canal—is strategically an inseparable part of the Russo-Middle East cock-pit in which our argument with Herr Hitler bids fair to be pretty well ironed out this summer. Or let's put it this way:

Hitler must break into the Russian Caucasus or the Middle East, or both, in order to get the supplies which he needs to keep his war machine running. As you know now there are two main routes to his goal. One lies through Soviet Marshal Timoshenko's Red front in the Ukraine—a gallant line which Hitler thus far has failed to crack. The other is through Turkey, or around Turkey, and so into Syria.

Upon Russia's sturdy shoulders depends the defense of the Ukraine gateway. But the blocking of the Hun drive through or about Turkey is largely up to Britain and the United States.

If the Allies fail in the defense of either of these routes, the fat will be in the fire. The fuehrer will have gone a long, long way toward winning the war. Thus the protection of the Mediterranean wing becomes an imperative part of Allied strategy.

The Allied set-up in Libya and Egypt has been thrown out of kilter rather badly by Nazi Marshal Rommel's success in isolating the important British-held Libyan port of Tobruk and forcing the main body of the British eighth army to fall back toward the Egyptian border. It isn't that Rommel has won a decisive victory, but his offensive if continued, would tend to improve his master's chances for a blitzkrieg against the Turks or Syria direct.

The point is that Rommel, who is showing superior strength, might compel the British to withdraw middle eastern forces to protect Egypt. That probably is one thing Hitler is playing for—to weaken the Allied defense in the middle east in preparation for his own great offensive.

Yankee bombers already are doing yeoman's work in the Mediterranean and middle eastern theater, and a reinforcement of our air fleets there would represent our most feasible aid for the immediate future. One suspects, however, that Mr. Churchill also is asking for warships in the Mediterranean, or at least for troops both for Egypt and the middle east.

London observers think such a reinforcement might cause a postponement of the opening of a second European front until the spring. Still, Hitler probably has the strength to stand off an Allied invasion of western Europe while he stages an all-out offensive toward Syria or against Russia.

Should the Nazi chief succeed in breaking into the middle east while holding on his western front, the Allied cause certainly would be in a precarious position. So if the Allied high command should be faced with the necessity of making a choice between reinforcing the eastern Mediterranean or invading the continent, it wouldn't be surprising to see them choose the former course.

Bill Holden and Jeffry Lynn, now army regulars like yourself, are near enough to the Big Stem to go places on occasion, where they can see and be seen. They're both stationed at Astoria, L. I., and there's a good deal of pleasant irony in the fact that these two cinema heroes were drafted, traveled 3,000 miles from Hollywood and film contracts—and wound up in a motion picture studio.

On the site where their camp now stands, the old Paramount studios once flourished.

Bill misses his bride. Brenda Marshall, of course, but I ran into him the other night at Reuben's and he said he liked army life fine.

I haven't seen Jeffry since his best girl, Margaret Hayes, up and eloped with Leif Erickson, whom nobody even knew she'd met. I don't think anyone's figured that one out yet; just put it in the Bolt-Out-of-the-Blue department.

A blond you admire very much, Madeleine Carroll, has been whizzing around Gotham, doing a lot of radio work, and it appears the fans are so crazy about her it's almost worth her life to come out of a doorway. Then one smart alec tripped her.

Still, I suppose it's better than being ignored!

There were a lot of prints of birds in her apartment, and she ordered the management to take them all down.

Did you hear about Myrna almost missing her honeymoon train? She and her bridegroom, John Hertz, jr., dawdled so at their wedding reception (I guess they were having a good time!) that they made the train with only 30 seconds to spare, and in these days of priorities a train is nothing to miss, not if you've got reservations.

SCRAP RUBBER CAMPAIGN ROLLS IN HIGH GEAR

Directors Promise It Won't Be Another 'Pots and Pans' Fiasco.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The national scrap rubber campaign rolled along in high gear today with directors of the gigantic two week "scavenger hunt" promising the citizenry that it would not turn out to be another "pots and pans" fiasco.

William R. Boyd, jr., chairman of the Petroleum Industry War Council, called upon the public to forget the ill-fated aluminum drive of last summer, final details of which were made public yesterday.

The report on the aluminum campaign showed that the actual amount of the previous metal collected was only 42½ per cent of expectations. Officials blamed the Office of Civilian Defense, at that time directed by Mayor F. H. La Guardia of New York, for inadequate preparation, and cited poor transportation facilities.

Boyd asserted, however, that the present rubber drive is being conducted along entirely different lines and that he could see no connection whatsoever between the two salvage campaigns.

As the campaign neared the close of its first week, Boyd predicted that the total collection would be "considerably above the guesses publicly made by some of the salvage experts" and said the campaign is "rapidly developing into the greatest single drive ever staged in American history.

Other officials expresesd confidence that the lack of direct participation by junk dealers in the rubber drive criticized in some quarters, would not materially detract from its success. They pointed out that prior to the campaign the government raised its scrap rubber price to $25 a ton, thereby stimulating collection efforts by the dealers.

St. John's Sunday school gave $20.61, the Evangelical Guild, $25, and St. John's Brotherhood, $10.

All ward and precinct workers were requested today to make a complete report of their solicitations Monday to the U. S. O. campaign headquarters in the Y. M. C. A. Industries are holding their own solicitation.

HIT CIVILIAN AID MEASURE

Opponents Organize to Limit Scope of Plan to Pay War Benefits.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Senate opponents of administration legislation authorizing war benefit payments for civilians today organized to send the measure back to committee in order to limit its scope.

Reported favorably by the education and labor committee, the measure now is pending before the senate and debate is scheduled to resume on Monday.

Chairman Walter F. George, (D., Ga.), of the finance committee said he will move to have the bill referred to his group for further study. He believed its probable cost "is immense" and would call for additional taxes.

Sen. Robert A. Taft, (R., O.), who opposed the bill as too far-reaching during Thursday's debate, said he will support the move.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Claude Pepper, (D., Fla.), would provide cash benefits up to $85-a-month and medical assistance to civilians for injury, death, or capture as a result of war action.

In the first test on the floor, administration forces defeated by a narrow margin a move by Taft to eliminate special provisions for civilian workers injured in the line of duty. This indicated a sharp fight on attempts to sidetrack the bill for further study.

YOUTHS STEAL AUTO, WRECK IT AND THEN TRY TO TAKE ANOTHER

State highway patrolmen today were searching for two youths, believed to be Mansfield residents, who stole an automobile from the city early today and attempted to steal another after wrecking the first on U. S. route 42 near Lexington.

The youths reportedly stole an automobile owned by Roy E. Gale, 185 West Third street, from its parking place in front of the Smoke Shop at 35 West Fourth street shortly before 1 a. m.

State patrolmen said that they received a call from Glenn D. Campbell, who lives on route 42 near Lexington at 2 a. m., who told patrolmen that two youths had attempted to steal his auto after wrecking their own nearby.

Patrolmen sent to the scene, found Gale's car in a ditch near the intersection of route 42 and state route 97. The car had apparently skidded off the road, hit a ditch and overturned.

Campbell reported that he had heard someone trying to start his car and saw two youths push it down the driveway and across the road. They were unable to get the motor started, however, and fled on foot.

A search was made of fields and roads in the vicinity by state patrolmen but no trace was found of the youths. State patrolmen were continuing their search today.

Gale told police that this was the second car stolen from him within the past two years. Gale's other car was also found abandoned and had been damaged by fire.

TWO RETURNED

Captured O. S. R. Fugitives Back In Cells.

Two inmates who escaped from the Ohio State Reformatory were back in the institution today following their apprehension in Chicago and Akron, Supt. Arthur L. Glattke reported.

One of the pair, Charles Kasparek, 32, who was admitted in April, 1936, from Cuyahoga county to serve one to 20 years for stabbing with intent to kill, escaped 11 months ago. He was apprehended this week in Chicago.

Laddie Nathaniel, 20, who was admitted in June, 1941, from Summit county, to serve one to seven years for grand larceny, escaped 12 days ago from the reformatory's Grafton farm and was apprehended in Akron.

KNIFE VICTIM'S RITES MONDAY

Private funeral services for Mrs. Mary Richardson Johnson, colored, who died of knife wounds Wednesday, will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Geiger Funeral home.

Rev. A. J. McCreary, pastor of Mt. Calvary Baptist church will officiate. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

The woman's husband, John, is held in Richland county jail awaiting action by the grand jury on a second degree murder charge.

Mrs. Johnson was born Jan. 23, 1917 in Stone Mountain, Ga. She had lived in Mansfield for the past 19 years.

Surviving are her husband; her mother, Mrs. Nora Richardson, and two brothers, John Richardson, of Mansfield, and Raymond Richardson, of Fort Huachuca, Ariz.

TEACH USE OF COMBINES

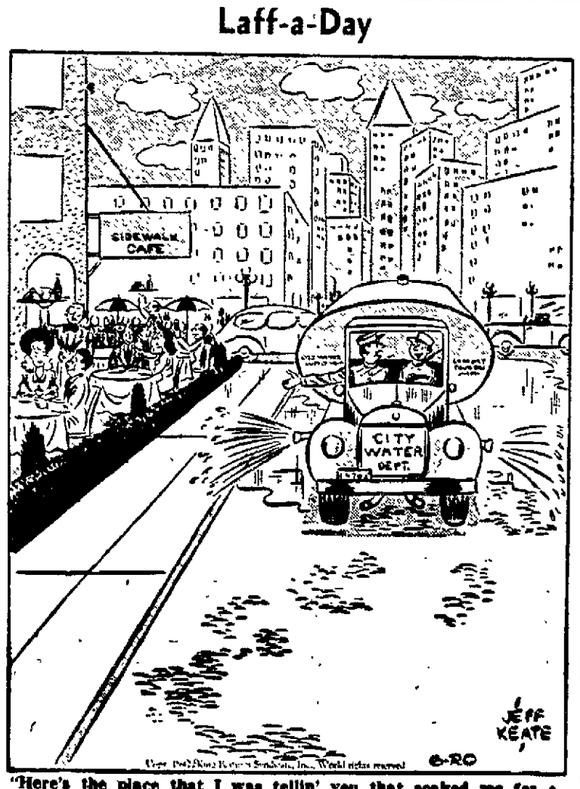
Mansfield, Shiloh Meetings To Be Held Next Week.

Free instruction for Richland county farmers who plan to use combines to harvest their wheat this summer will be offered next Thursday at meetings in Mansfield and Shiloh, County Agent George B. Ganyard announced today.

Problems of operating combines and the care and adjustment of the machines will be discussed by R. D. Barden, engineering specialist from Ohio State university. Representatives of combine manufacturers will be at the meetings to discuss their special types of machines.

The Shiloh meeting will be at 2 p. m. Thursday in the Young Implement company rooms and the meeting in Mansfield will be at 7:30 p. m. at the Myers Farm Supply company, 184 North Diamond street.

Laff-a-Day



"Here's the place that I was tellin' you that soaked me for a tough steak, Ed!"

Following closely the issuance of the three-cent "Win the War" postage stamp another new stamp, this one commemorating the fifth anniversary of the resistance of the Chinese people to Japanese aggression will make its appearance July 7. The five-cent China commemorative stamp pictures both Abraham Lincoln and Dr. Sun Yat-sen, first president of the Chinese republic. Issuance will be made from Denver, Colo., on the anniversary of Dr. Sun Yat-sen's return to China to accept the presidency of the new republic. Persons wishing first-day cancellations, may send addressed envelopes, up to 10, accompanied by cash or money order to the postmaster at Denver, postal officials here said.

A group of Mansfield soldiers was unable to pass up the chance to say hello to their home town when they passed through on an early-morning train on it way east, a Pennsylvania railroad employe found a long piece of cardboard, with a ribbon attached, which had been dropped from a window of the train. The card, which stated simply that they were passing through Mansfield, listed these names: Ralph R. Wagner, Ed Henrich, George Williams, Bob Hetler, Kenny Garas, Andy Civay, Art Cooper, Lewis Barnes, Lawrence Jerger, Carl Dinges, Dick Garber, Joe Anderson, and Maynard Sams.

In another 10 days or two weeks Richland county farmers will begin harvesting one of their biggest wheat crops in recent years. The hot weather and heavy rainfall in April put the wheat ahead of schedule and made it grow taller than usual. The frequent rains also have caused grain in some sections to be infected with rust, but it is not expected to result in widespread damage in the county, according to County Agent George B. Ganyard.

ILLNESS FATAL

Joseph Elmer Stoner, 75, Dies At Hospital Here.

Joseph Elmer Stoner, 75, of Washington township, died late yesterday at General hospital following a brief illness. He was born in Washington township April 18, 1867 and spent his entire life in that community.

Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Laura McLaughlin and Mrs. Pluma McElvain, both of Mansfield; two sons, Allen of Mansfield and Delbert Stoner of Washington township; three sisters, Mrs. Emanuel Beer of Washington township, Mrs. Amanda McCullough of Mansfield and Mrs. Jennie Newlon of Denver, Colo.; 11 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The body was removed to the Wappner Funeral home where services will be held Monday at 10 a. m. with Rev. G. E. Swoyer, pastor of the First Lutheran church, officiating. Burial will be in the Lantz cemetery.

OFFICERS SAY PLANES SCORE UNDER FIRE

Supply Service and Training Program Praised to Aviation Writers.

By BILL BONI
(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Army air forcemen, from Commander Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold to the specialists in charge of the various divisions, finally have let down their hair for the benefit of the aviation writers association.

Much of what these experts said was of necessity off the record. But from the lectures and discussions, which began early yesterday and ran on through the day, emerged the clean-cut picture of an air force which, operating on all the world's continents, today can boast that:

It has combat planes now which have stood up notably under enemy fire, and is nearing completion on new types which may revolutionize aerial warfare;

It has a supply service — the ferrying command—which soon will be spanning 10 times the number of miles covered by all the world's airlines at the start of the war, and which rapidly is bringing the AAF to a state of self-sufficiency independent of land or sea transport.

It has the largest air training program ever undertaken by any country, one whose scope by 1943 will be "astronomical" dimensions;

It is manned by youngsters who, in the words of Maj. Gen. Barton K. Yount, head of the flying training command, are "the cream of the land—if we can't train them, we couldn't train anybody."

While it was caught short by the Nazis in the use of gliders for troop and cargo carrying, it has under a full head of steam a program that is making up ground at a satisfying pace;

In its striking arm—bombardment—it is working on the principle that the United States has the world's best bombsight, and that this bombsight should be used for highly selective attacks on the enemy's most strategic centers, rather than in indiscriminate bombing;

It has, in the Boeing B-17, (fortress), the "best daylight bomber in the world today," in the words of Maj. Gen. O. P. Echols, cheif of the material command, and in the Consolidated B-24 (Liberator) another four-motored joh which, while slower, can carry more bombs a greater distance and which "we hope and expect will be almost as good, just as good or better" than the B-17, according to the gauge of comparison employed;

It is striving for the goal of being not only the world's largest and the world's best air force, but also the world's safest.

Appeals for Air Blitzkrieg on Mosquito Horde

BURTON—(AP)—An appeal for an air blitz to strafe mosquito hordes that have made life "unbearable for Burton, (Geauga county) citizens has been sent to the civil aeronautics administration in Washington.

The request for an airplane to spray insecticide on nearby swamps was made yesterday by Mrs. Helen Laughlin, wife of Dr. W. M. Laughlin, a licensed pilot who has just been appointed adjutant of squadron 1 of the civil air patrol at Lost Nation airport, Willoughby.

"The mosquitoes have become unbearable," Mrs. Laughlin said. "One can't work in the garden. I went out to cut peonies . . . and as I jarred a bush it was like stirring a bee hive. They cling to your clothes and get into the house. We can't keep our houses shut all summer, so I asked Washington for a plane."

County Agricultural Agent Charles A. Haas said an excess of rain may have accounted for the increase of mosquitoes that breed in neighboring low lands around the Cuyahoga river.

OBSERVES 90TH ANNIVERSARY AT SUNDAY SERVICE

St. Paul's Lutheran Church Program to Recognize Founding Day.

St. Paul's Lutheran congregation will celebrate the 90th anniversary of the founding of the church with special ceremonies Sunday at 10:30 a. m. service.

The congregation, which has been cited to the honor roll of the Lutheran Synod of Ohio three consecutive years for increasing and meeting in full its apportioned benevolences, will hear Rev. Martin W. Wappner, chaplain at the Ohio State Reformatory, deliver the anniversary sermon.

Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor of the church for 10 years, will conduct the service when recognition will be paid to approximately 25 members who have reached the age of 75 or older. Mrs. Louisa Weil, oldest living member of the church and a regular attendant, will sit in the special section reserved for this group.

The pastor in presenting a brief history of the church will recall the official beginning of the congregation, March 5, 1852. At that time the church was known as "The Evangelical Lutheran and High German Reformed church of Mansfield."

Later a separation between the Lutheran and German groups was effected to better serve the increasing number of German speaking people.

In 1863 the congregation was re-named "The St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran church" and worship was conducted in a newly built brick edifice on the present site. The building used today was completed in 1899 at a cost of $22,500. Worship in the German language was discontinued in 1931.

Nineteen pastors have served the parish since the beginning and the church has a confirmed membership today of approximately 500.

The governing body of the church, the church council, is comprised of 11 men including the pastor. The members are: D. L. Burns, president, William N. Fenn, C. D. Mong, Paul Muth, C. L. Moore, Floyd O'Brien, Howard Stauffer, Harry Widman, P. M. Pasheilich, Fred Miller, sr., and Glenn Miller.

The anniversary service will include two anthems by the choir, "A Morning Prayer," by Sibelius-Carroll, and "Unfold Ye Portals," from "The Redemption," by Gounod. O. L. Seybold, organist, will play "Prelude in G," Freyer, and "Postlude in C," by Costa.

Other events of the week include a meeting of the missionary society at the church Wednesday at 2 p. m. Mrs. M. W. Wappner will present the topic. Mrs. R. H. Elsasser and Mrs. Kurt Wiehm will be hostesses.

Communion Services To Be Held Sunday

Holy Communion services will be held in First Presbyterian church Sunday at 10:45 a. m., with the Rev. D. N. Roller officiating.

The pastor has chosen, "The Double Duty," for his subject.

An anthem, "Open Our Eyes," will be sung by the choir and the offertory solo will be given by Leo Hans. He will sing "Abide With Me," by Spross.

Miss Mabel Zehner, organist, will play "Communion," by Deshayes; "Peace of God," by Shure; "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," by Mason-Thompson and "Marche Religieuse," by Guilmant.

At the opening Sunday school exercises at 9:30 a. m., Miss Bertha Gregory, executive secretary of the Y. W. C. A., will speak.

Monday at 8 p. m., Louis T. Schaefer will give a demonstration of the proper preparation of natural foods under the sponsorship of Circles, 1, 2, and 3.

Begins Series of Special Services

Rev. Edmont P. Hains, whose "Happy Hour" program has been broadcast over the Newark, N. J., station WOR for the past 10 years will begin a series of special services in the First United Brethren church on Park avenue east, Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

While in Mansfield he will speak on a wide variety of Biblical subjects and will devote one service to the presentation of a pagent on the "Wilderness Tabernacle." An eight-foot replica of "Wilderness Tabernacle" constructed about 1500 B. C. will be used in this service when the Old testament ritual will be enacted.

Objects such as the Ark of the Covenant, the Holy Place and the Holy of Holies will be reproduced on the platform. All services are open to the public.

Dedicates Service To Fathers Sunday

First Lutheran church will dedicate its evening services Sunday to fathers, and the program will include a series of talks by members of the congregation.

Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor, will continue his sermon series on "The Worst Characters in the Bible," by taking for his subject, "The Worst Father in the Bible."

At this service at 8 p. m., Mrs. Edward Smith will speak on "Fathers and the Home," and other talks will be given by Miss Marilee Sword, "Fathers and Daughters"; James Crum, "Fathers and Sons," and Earl Kochheiser, "Fathers and Their Problems."

Music will be furnished by the choir, singing, "Praise the Lord, O' My Soul," and "God of Our Fathers."

Rev. Milton C. Johnson, assistant pastor, will lead the morning worship at 9:45 a. m., and speak on the subject, "For Christians in Crisis." The choir will sing "Souls of Righteousness," by Noble, and Dimon Herring will give the offertory solo, "Open the Gates," by A Dams.

At 2 p. m., the Luther league will meet to hike to Hunt's woods.

Services throughout the week include Holy Communion services Thursday at 8 p. m., and again the following Sunday, June 28, at 9.45 a. m., and again at 8 p. m. Other activities include First District all-day quilting and birthday party Wednesday; Second District annual birthday party Wednesday at 12:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. A. T. Steeringer, Ashland road; Sixth district meeting at 2 p. m., Thursday.

CHURCHES PLAN FATHER'S DAY OBSERVANCES

Congregations Set Special Programs With All Family Members Taking Part.

Father's Day, that has developed from a family institution in the past few years into a nation-wide observance by both churches and other organizations, will be recognized here tomorrow during the regular hours of worship.

Mansfield churches announced special programs for both the Sunday school and morning worship hour when tributes will be paid to fathers by both pastors and members of the congregation including the children.

Fathers themselves will also participate in the service although for the most part the program will be presented by mothers, wives, sons and daughters.

In Spokane, Wash., the founder of Father's Day suggested a special slogan for 1942—"Honor thy son."

"War time censorship and soldier's pay limits the letters and the gifts a warrior son may send his father, but there is no limit or restriction to the words a proud dad can send his boy," Mrs. John Bruce Dodd, who established Father's Day in 1910, observed today.

"Every father's son in the army, navy or marines is hungry for news from home, and he will be thinking especially of father tomorrow. What could be a better way for dad to show his pride and affection than to dedicate his own day to the boy in uniform?

"Write the boy a letter, a long letter, full of news about yourself and all the family and all the neighbors."

The selflessness of Mrs. Dodd's own father, William Jackson Smart, led to the founding of dad's day.

Her mother died during the Spanish-American war, leaving Smart with six small children. Strict but gentle, he played the role of both mother and father through the years until his boys and girls were grown and married.

Father's Day was a joke to the nation until the first World war brought a new perspective. The doughboy in France missed his dad. When the third Sunday in June approached, the soldiers remembered someone had called it Father's Day.

The first shipload of uncensored letters from American boys in France bore the addresses of dads in the United States.

Baptist Church Services Listed

Rev. Albert L. Linder has chosen "Born and Bred in Christ" for his sermon subject Sunday at 10:30 a. m. in the Park Avenue Baptist church.

Music will be furnished by James Peck, soloist, and a quartet composed of Miss Clarabelle Merryman. Mrs. Lawrence Whisler, Paul Seifert and Harry Boyd will sing. The soloist will sing "Fear No, O Israel," by Buck, and the quartet will offer, "Praise Ye the Lord," by Vulpius.

Lawrence S. Frank, organist, will play the following program: Prelude, "Adagio Cantabile," by Beethoven; offertory, "Consolation" by Mendelssohn, and postlude, "Gavotte in D Major," by Bach.

The Youth Fellowship and Young Adult Fellowship meetings will be held Sunday at 6:30 p. m.

Activities for the week include: Wednesday, 3 p. m., Junior choir; 7:30 p. m., Finance committee meeting; Thursday, 1:30 p. m. Circle 3 meeting with Mrs. E. O. Morton, 239 Helen avenue; 7:30 p. m., prayer service;; Friday, 1:30 p. m., Circle 1 will meet with Mrs. Howard Boyce, 126 Dawson avenue; and Circle 2 will convene with Mrs. Perry Smith, 74 Marion avenue.

Pastor to Discuss 'Place of Prayer'

Rev. J. Campbell White, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, will speak on the subject, "The Large Place of Prayer in Great Achievement," at the 10:30 a. m. service Sunday in that church.

The sermon will dwell upon two of the greatest men of prayer of recent centuries and consider the question: Why do we not have many more men and women who remove mountains and work miracles by prayer?

An open forum, the second in a series, was held on the subject at the church last night after the congregation had been asked to deliberate on the theme for the past week.

'King For Day,' Pastor's Topic

Rev. Paul H. Saleste, pastor of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church, will use "King for a Day" as his sermon topic tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. The Senior choir, under the direction of John Klinger, will present special music.

Meetings scheduled during the week are Young People's Bible Study group, 7 p. m., Sunday; Ladies Aid, 2 p. m., Thursday, in charge of Bertha Ruess; official board meeting 8 p. m., Thursday, in charge of Charles Finfgeld; and choir rehearsals at 6:30 and 7:30 p. m., Friday.

Arrange Quarterly Communion Service

The last quarterly Communion service of the conference year will be held at First Methodist church Sunday at 10:30 a. m.

Music by the choir will include an anthem, "Praise Ye the Father," by Gounod, and a quartet will sing, "This, the The Old, Old Story of His Love." M. H. Patterson, F. B. Risley, Clarence Lisle and James T. Weber compose the quartet. Mrs. Elsie Ireland, organist, will play, "In Springtime," Harris.

Junior church at 10:30 a. m. will be conducted by Mrs. Edward Gibson while the nursery will be in charge of Mrs. Denney Skelton.

The Epworth league will hold a picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Montoya Sunday night, at which time Miss Virginia Osbun will conduct the forum topic, "Beauty Around Us." Katherine Schaller will lead the devotions. The group will meet at the church where transportation will be provided.

Grace Guild circle will meet with Mrs. May McConnoughey, 147 North Mulberry street, Monday at 8 p. m.

J. Leo Hartmann will represent the church at the annual North East Ohio Methodist conference at Lakeside starting Wednesday.

'Our Father' To Be Topic of Sermon

Rev. C. F. Sheriff will preach Sunday morning at St. Matthews Lutheran church on the subject "Our Father."

Rev. Sheriff will preach at Rowsburg, Ashland county, Sunday at 8 p. m. on the subject, "Power Goes Out of the Exhaust Pipe."

This is the occasion of the 100th anniversary of the organization of the church at Rowsburg. Rev. Sheriff preached at Rowsburg as his first pastorate during the years of 1914-1918.

First Christian Services Listed

The unified service of worship and study will begin at 9 a. m. at the First Christian church Sunday.

Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger will preach on the theme "Add To Your Faith Virtue." Mrs. H. H. Clingan, organist, will play "Beside Still Waters" by Coerne and "The Last Spring" by Greig, the choir will sing "Lo, God is Here" by Mueller and the offertory solo "The Voice in the Wilderness" by Scott will be sung by Robert Crowl.

Sermon, Musical Numbers Announced

Basing his sermon on the scriptural text, First Peter, 5:6-11, Rev. C. A. Portz, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church, will preach on "Faith's Testing" at the 10:30 worship service tomorrow morning. The choir anthem is entitled "Like as the Heart Desireth the Water Brooks" by Novello.

The children of the church program will also be held at 10:30 a. m. in the church basement. The choir will rehearse at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Scientist Church Topic Announced

"Is the Universe Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in the Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

It will have for the Golden Text: "The Lord by wisdom hath founded the earth; by understanding hath he established the heavens."—(Proverbs 3:19).

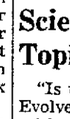
Congregation Honors Fathers

Father's Day will be observed Sunday at Main Street Evangelical church with the pastor, Rev. C. L. Kern, delivering a sermon on the subject, "The Spirit of True Fatherhood" at the 10:30 a. m. service.

The Daily Vacation Bible school will conduct graduation exercises at 8 p. m.

INJURIES FATAL

DAYTON —(INS)— Mrs. Meredith Gould, 22, of Mt. Healthy, Cincinnati suburb, was dead today of injuries suffered yesterday when the automobile driven by her husband, William, crashed into a filling station near Lebanon.



Our fighting men are doing their share. Here at home the least we can do is put 10% of our income in War Bonds for our share in America.

At Public Send-Off for New Inductees

Here is part of the crowd of 2,000 that gathered at the square this morning to give a contingent of selectees from Richland county a send-off as they left for an army induction center. It was the first send-off in a month and No. 11 in the series of these events to be staged in Mansfield.

in our tanks to fly for about another five minutes.

"On our return from the raid zone, we had quite a time talking, smoking and fighting the morning's engagement all over again."

Duncan then went on to describe how it feels to make a dive in a bomber, its nose pointed at the bomb target.

"When you go into the long dive toward the target it seems like the bottom drops out of everything.

"It's every man for himself and you don't stick around after you drop your bomb. You get rid of them fast and then you have to worry about defending Jap fighters.

"One thing you have to get used to is the anti-aircraft fire aimed at your ship.

"Every trail of smoke tracing the path of the shell looks like its headed right toward the bottom of the plane.

When asked about individual exploits of heroism displayed by U. S. pilots which he had witnessed Duncan said simply, "They were all heroes."

Duncan, who holds a rating as an aviation gunsmith, landed in San Diego, Cal., June 2. He is home on 12-day leave and will report back at San Diego, June 27.

Duncan, who had been on the Lexington since last October has been in the thick of several other naval engagements in the Pacific besides the Coral Sea conflict.

A former employe of the A. L. Garber company in Ashland where he lived, Duncan enlisted March 25, 1941. He received his basic training at Great Lakes, Ill., and took advanced courses at the Naval Armory in Detroit. He is the youngest member of a family of four sons and four daughters.

Summing up the whole thing Duncan said, "The Japs have good planes and good pilots but ours are better."

LONGEST DAY

Summer Makes Official Debut At 8:17 P. M. Sunday.

Although the weather remains a military secret, there's no denying that summer officially arrives tomorrow.

For some astronomical reason, nothing to do with wartime, the summer doesn't arrive either at sunrise or sunset, but at exactly 8:17 p. m.

Just what the weather will be at the exact hour of the solstice is still a matter of conjecture. Judging from the hint dropped today by the weatherman there will be moderate temperatures tonight accompanied by occasional showers and thunder storms. Yesterday's high, if that's any help, was 81.

Not only is tomorrow the beginning of summer but it's the longest day of the year. The sun, in the central states, will rise at 5:15 a. m. and set at 8:28 p. m. with daylight lasting 15 hours and 14 minutes.

FOUND STABBED

Man Murdered In Room of Hotel Registered From Michigan.

NEW YORK —(INS)— A man identified from the hotel register as Carl J. Broadland, of Grand Rapids, Mich., was found murdered today in the Times Square hotel.

He had been stabbed to death, police said. The victim was about 46 years old. Police started search for several men reported to have been drinking with him early this morning.

U. S. Signs Accord For Plane Station In Cuba.

HAVANA — (U.P.) — The United States was ready today to begin immediately the construction of an $8,000,000 air training station and anti-submarine operations center, facilities for which Cuba has just turned over to its war department.

Cuban Foreign Minister Jose Manuel Cortina and United States Ambassador Spruille Braden ceremoniously signed the agreement at 6:20 p. m. yesterday.

Cubans understood that more than 7,000 soldiers and fliers would be stationed at the base with squadrons of the United Nations' biggest bombers.

WARN RETAILERS

OPA Officials Say Price Lists Must Be Filed by July 1.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The office of price administration warned retailers today that they must file price lists of cost-of-living commodities with local war price and rationing boards by July 1—and that the deadlines would not be extended.

liver ammunition and food to the garrison.

It had been believed that the height of the German assault had been reached, but the Germans now were attacking with an unprecedented ferocity. Soviet infantry, marines and artillerymen hurled them back, thousands as corpses, and counter-attacked, last midnight's Russian communique said.

The first Russian communique today said that "no essential changes" occurred during the night on the front as a whole.

The tempo of the attack was indicated by the announcement that the defenders had destroyed more than a regiment (3,000 men) of infantry and 20 tanks in one day's —presumably yesterday's — fighting.

Hitler's expectations were long overdue. The Tass agency said German prisoners revealed that Nazi officers had believed Sevastopol would be taken by June 10.

The assault is in its 15th day, German plans are already 10 days behind and Sevastopol's garrison and civilian population—sworn to die rather than submit—shows no signs of weakening.

(Paul Winterton, British Broadcasting Corporation correspondent in Moscow, said the situation was tense, but the Germans had not made an important penetration of Sevastopol's defenses.

The object of suddenly stepping up the attack to a seemingly supreme effort appeared to be to supply Hitler with a victory by Monday, first anniversary of his invasion of Russia.

The prisoners, Tass said, revealed that the German 72nd division had lost 60 per cent of its strength in two days, and that other divisions had lost 50 per cent of their effectiveness.

Col. Gen Fritz Erich Von Manstein was believed to be using 10 divisions of infantry—150,000 men —plus dive bombers, artillery and tanks.

The midnight communique revealed that on the Kalinin front, northwest of Moscow, 1,500 Germans and eight of their tanks had been destroyed in two days' fighting. It also reported the sinking of a German 15,000-ton transport in the Barents sea.

MUST GET O. K. FOR WEDDINGS

New Ruling Affects Army Men In Foreign Countries.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Army personnel serving in foreign countries or possessions may not marry without the approval of the commanding officers of the United States army forces stationed in the area involved, the war department announced today.

No explanation was available at the war department regarding the reasons for the issuance of the order.

The brief announcement said: "The war department announced today that no military personnel on duty in any foreign country or possession may marry without the approval of the commanding officer of the United States army forces stationed in such foreign country or possession."

AIDED SUBS

Flashes From Hotel Windows On Atlantic Coast Reported.

ASBURY PARK, N. J.—(AP)—Axis submarines were flashed signals from hotel windows along the Atlantic coast, Judge Thomas Siddall, Atlantic City defense council chairman, asserted last night.

The Atlantic county judge said he had seen the signals reflected from hotels in Atlantic City and other shore resorts.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, JUNE 20, 1942.

Drive carefully tomorrow—and get the habit of thinking 40 miles an hour is fast enough.

Some folks who haven't the slightest idea what's going to happen tomorrow are busy predicting what'll happen "after the war."

The suggestion is offered: "To ruin an enemy, let him have a soft snap without earning it"—and the same thing can be done to a friend.

Disturbed By Excessive Optimism

CECIL BROWN, well known foreign correspondent who recently returned to the United States, said in the course of a recent talk that he had been greatly impressed by the incredible strides American industry is making in producing for war. At the same time, he added, he was disturbed by the excessive degree of optimism held by many of us. In short, too large a proportion of the American people are not yet convinced that this will be a long and hard war.

That kind of optimism is not held in informed circles. Most of the experts still think that another New Year's day will come before the United Nations will be able to engage in major, continued offensive drives against the enemy. In 1943, they forecast, a gigantic effort to knock Hitler out of the war will be made. Then, in 1944, the United Nations will be able to turn their full and undivided attention to Japan. And so, by that year's end, the war may be over.

Other experts consider that time-table too optimistic. They argue that both Germany and Japan have immense armies and resources, and that it will take another year or two to wear them down and bring them to their knees. In any event, no informed commentator subscribes to the current rumors that the war is likely to be ended before 1942 passes. And none of them makes the popular mistake of thinking that minor United Nations' victories constitute major disasters for the enemy.

Ban Placed On County Fairs

STRICKLAND GILLILAN'S popular "Off agin, on agin, gone agin, Finnigin" is recalled by shifting attitudes of government agencies toward holding county fairs this year.

It could have been known months ago that county fairs would induce considerable otherwise unnecessary motor travel involving use of gasoline and wear on tires, and the ban might easily have been issued several months ago, before plans had progressed to near-completion, as is the case with the Richland county fair.

Earlier attitude, as in the encouragement of professional baseball, was that fairs would be "a contribution to the public morale" but it now appears that tire-saving is considered a more important factor.

The Ohio state fair has already been cancelled for this year and the edict against county fairs, in the interest of tire and gasoline conservation, will probably be accepted by a majority as another of the minor sacrifices of wartime.

Army Classifies Officer Types

ARMY success demands much the same qualities as success in other lines. Not all businesses, however, have studied these qualities as carefully as the army. The "Officers' Guide," a popular and valuable handbook, has some ideas that everybody might profit by.

There are four types of officers, says this book. First, the brilliant and industrious, who make fine staff officers. Second, the brilliant and lazy. These make the best commanders, for they are always trying to avoid troublesome and time-consuming detail, and retain their sense of the really important decisions. Third, the stupid and lazy, who, if used carefully, will get some necessary work done and not do much harm. Lastly, the most dangerous class of all, the stupid and industrious. These may easily do great damage. Attacking with ill-advised zeal and energy, they may bring on a disaster. They should be eliminated by all means.

In a general way, men in civilian life also fit into these classifications, and a study of people, on the basis of "types," will go further to explain success or failure than attributing the cause to good or bad "luck."

Let Germany's Righteous Speak

EVEN amid the growing horrors of Nazi rule, there must still be many sane and righteous men in Germany. They probably hope to assert themselves some day, and do their best to restore the enlightenment, culture and humanity of the Fatherland in its best days, before this modern craze for power.

The old Germany was sentimentally idealized, and was known to Americans by the best of it. Now it is judged by the worst of it. It has immensely deteriorated under Hitler's rule, in nearly all the things that count for civilization, but there are still values in German character and talent that should be preserved.

The Lord offered to save Sodom and Gomorrah if only a handful of righteous men could be found therein. That generous undertaking failed, and they were wiped out by fire from heaven. Similar fire is now wiping out Nazi Germany, city by city, as the enemies it has raised up grow stronger and concentrate on their self-protecting task.

If sane and righteous Germans have the courage to oppose their brutal masters at whatever cost, it is time for them to get busy.

Adding To Glorious Pages

MIDWAY joins with the Coral sea as another glorious page in American history. The last war added to the book the names of Chateau-Thierry, St. Mihiel and the Argonne—land battles all. Though our present triumphs are naval, those of the future will not necessarily be so.

Land action is looming up in this war, and in it our soldiers will play a large part. Though no one as yet knows where, it is not a bad guess that Brest, St. Nazaire and other towns on the French coast will soon be American household words.

According to the Akron Beacon Journal, "You can still find queer old-fashioned men who are shocked when they hear a lady swear"—which seems to broaden the intended meaning of the word "lady."

In the absence of anything else to worry about—"Dentists warn that false teeth may be swallowed during an air raid."

INTRODUCING THE CHISEL FAMILY

Pact With Russia Raises Question

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

MAYBE IT was unjust to the Soviet Republics to accuse 'em of a fondness for Nazism because they had that compact with the Reich prior to Herr Hitler's attack on them, as an accompaniment to the outbreak of war between the Axis and the world's democracies, now the United Nations.

It was a compact that's beginning to be explained, directly following the Yankee-British-Chinese combination, as a United Nations nucleus in opposition to the totalitarians in general, but Germany and Japan in particular.

Not, indeed, that the Soviets are yet aligned against Japan, like this country, the British and the Chinese, but the assumption is that they will be shortly. And, at any rate, they're identified with the United Nations' program for a mutually satisfactory and permanent peace when the Axis is licked flat enough to have such a peace imposed on totalitarianism.

The Soviets and the Nazis did have a compact, which was supposed to be anti-democratic.

The Soviet folk, having advertised their ideology ahead of the rest of the overseas bunch, were the earliest to be hated by the democracies, on the ground that they were Communists.

They also were blamed for having been unnecessarily rough with the czar and members of his family—not that czarism was indorsed, but the notion was that Communism had overdone matters, in killing him and everybody else that ever had been identified with his system and all others connected with it, hereditarily; perhaps not maliciously.

Fascism Loses Favor.

Then Fascism developed under Mussolini. After passing the experimental stage, that also became democratically unpopular.

Next Nazism followed. Managed by Herr Hitler, Nazism became worse loathed than Fascism—as more dangerous if not more despicable. Communism, though, had first start. Nazism had to have a bit of time to catch up with it.

Congressional Investigators Ham Fish and Martin Dies were on the Communists' trial before Signor Mussolini's and Herr Hitler's doctrines had been fairly advertised. Even yet it's hard to call off Investigator Dies from the Communists' scent and sick him onto that of the other totalitarianisms.'

At the juncture referred to, it scarcely seemed that the Hitler-Stalin deal was cooked up.

Wasn't it natural for all democrats to consider 'em in cahoots?

Yet the next move was for Herr Hitler to attack Comrade Stalin. Confusing—what?

Today Comrade Stalin is in arms against Herr Hitler—and, on Joe Stalin's part, as a DEMOCRAT, against Adolf, by gravy! And allied with the other democracies, too. Joe's a democratic ALLY. He's prepared to be 100 per cent helpful and he's asking for reciprocation—and our inclination's to give it to him.

How about this transformation?

Arranged by Litvinov.

Maxim Litvinov, Russia's ambassador in Washington, explains it quite clearly.

The dicker formally was closed between President Roosevelt and Russian Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov on his recent secret visit in the United States, but it was arranged and signed by Comissar Litvinov, a resident here for a long time, and a man who understands Yankee psychology.

Comrade Litvinov always, like the rest of his countrymen, eternally wanted basic democracy.

Now—the dope is, is Russia democratic?

I'm bugs as to what IS democracy.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Having submitted an application for admission to the Union in 1862, the state of West Virginia gained that end on June 20, 1863. Congress granted the permission subject to the insertion of a Constitutional provision for the gradual abolition of slavery within the territory. During the ensuing Civil war the state furnished some 36,000 soldiers to the Federal armies and somewhat less than 10,000 to the Confederacy.

Dedicated to Recruits

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SO YOU'RE lonely, kid? And you wake up frightened and sick and cussing your luck—. And wishing you'd never joined the doggoned outfit?

And you go slogging through the days, pulling your tired feet behind you and trying to swallow the lump in your throat, don't you?

Of course you do, and there was never a regular guy who didn't.

The trouble is, you and all the other fellows you have been given a bum steer on this business of heroism. You've been taught that joining the army and fighting for a great cause will make you break out in a rash of enthusiasm just like measles. You've expected to run 105 degrees of temperature and walk on air every time you saw the flag. Well it doesn't and you won't. Courage doesn't happen that way. Heroes don't come that way. Wars aren't won that way.

Heroes are just like other guys, lonely, discouraged, bewildered, sick at heart. Yearning to go home to see Mom or the girl friend. Hating the dust and the dirt, the drill and the drudgery. Patriotic? Sure, but that doesn't warm any waffles. You may recite every poem you ever learned in grammar school and repeat every vow you ever made when you took the oath, but your liver will still feel like a chunk of lead. For heroism isn't something that arrives with the whirl and the whoopee. It's something you create out of your own internal fortitude.

("Guts" is the word for it—but the editor says I shouldn't use words like that. However, you get what I mean, don't you, pal?)

Heroism is the grandest thing on earth—like love. But neither love nor heroism is spontaneous after the first few trial tests. They're a job you have to do whether you feel like it or not. They are something you make in spite of your discouragement and your longing to quit. That's why they're so glorious—not because they're easy, but because they're the toughest test any man can tackle.

Yes, I know — those stories you've been told about heroes listen swell. But don't count on them too much. I'll bet you my pay check against yours that there never was a hero who wasn't covered with goose-pimples when his great moment came . . . and who didn't sometimes cry to himself in the darkness and the silence of the night, wishing he could see Mom just once again.

Yet he didn't let that cramp his style! For deep inside him he knew that there was something more important than his own loneliness and disgust . . . there was something calling him to come . . . something that needed him more than even. Mom needed him . . . something more imperative than any personal pleasure or pain. And so he gritted his teeth and stood by his guns . . . and gave them hell!

That's what heroism means, kid. Not the kind of kick you get at Coney Island but the kind of feeling that used to grip you by the throat, once in a great while, when you were driving the cows home or doing the Saturday chores. Or maybe watching a football game. A feeling that you meant something more than just your ordinary self . . . that you could do something more than just the ordinary chores.

Well, you've got your wish. You're doing more than your ordinary chores. And it's griping you hard, isn't it, youngster. Sure it is, but that's how heroes happen! Forget the fairy tales and stand those gripes. Lift up your chin above the fear that's chilling us all. WE'RE COUNTING ON YOU! KEEP 'EM FLYING, SOLDIER!

Timely Editorial

Seems Logical.

Upholding the conviction of a member of a religious sect who got six months for using offensive language to a policeman on a street corner in Rochester, N. H., the United States supreme court has asserted, in an opinion written by Justice Frank Murphy:

"We cannot conceive that cursing a public officer is the exercise of religion in any sense of the term. — New York World-Telegram.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Leaders of United Nations Meet As Need for Second Front Grows

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

HIGH SPOT in week-end developments was the arrival of Prime Minister Winston Churchill in Washington for more face to face talks with President Roosevelt and Allied military strategists.

Coming so closely on the heels of Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov's pact-making trips to London and Washington, Churchill's second flight to the United States within a few months impressed observers as marking the advent of a new phase of Allied war activities.

Ways and means of increasing the tempo of offensive warfare by the United Nations appeared to be the main subjects for discussion and decision as British reverses in the Near East and need for stronger support of Russia on the Sevastopol and Kharkov fronts held interest in the week's news.

If there is to be a second front in Europe this year there is no more than a hint of it from any authorized source, as this would naturally be considered a legitimate "military secret" and the tri-power accord announced June 12 did not state that a second land front would be opened in 1942.

Draft: Change In Emphasis.

Up until now draft boards have laid the emphasis on "financial dependency" in deciding whether a man should be deferred or drafted. Chances were that a youth helping support an aged friend would have a better chance of being deferred than a husband who had a wife who worked. Technically, the family relationship was not considered.

Now the whole emphasis is being changed. Last week-end the senate okayed and sent to the house a military pay allotment bill requiring draft boards to first exhaust supplies of single men or those without family ties before calling up husbands and fathers. This would entail a revision of the Selective Service Act.

Authoritative congress offered the opinion that "family men" with dependent wives and children could now feel fairly certain of not being drafted for war duty any time in 1942.

Meanwhile provision was being made to aid the families of service men who are drafted.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — The Johns get busy:

John Anderson, the Journal-American drama critic, is writing a biography of Billy Rose.

John Gunther, author of "Inside Europe," "Inside Asia," and "Inside Latin America," is working for the Signal Corps . . . He's traveling around to the various camps, writng film scenarios.

Johnny Long, the orchestra leader, is playing the Ice Show in the Terrace room at the Hotel New Yorker. . . . An announcement this morning said at least six of his players would become papas within six months.

JOIN GOLDEN, the Broadway producer, thinks those politicians and civilians who think the theater isn't going all-out for the war effort should pull their heads out of the sand and take stock of the theater's activities. He cites Joan Crawford, who recently opened a nursery for war workers' children in addition to contributing $112,000 to the war effort as one instance out of hundreds where theatrical people are giving their all for the good of the cause.

John Selby, literary critic for the AP and author of two novels, "Sam," and "Island In the Corn," is about two-thirds way through the first draft of a new novel, as yet untitled.

John Charles Thomas, the baritone, is vacationing at the Riviera club, Santa Monica, Calif., and will remain there all summer.

Johnny Green, the composer, is conducting the orchestra for the new Rogers, and Hart musical, "By Jupiter," on Broadway.

John Powers, the man who made model agencies pay, continues in high gear. His models are the queens of the profession. He began his career by printing pictures of pretty girls in books.

JOHN CAIRNS, the advertising executive, tells me the war department has just approved a new material for army officers' uniforms. . . . It's made entirely of spun rayon and is called Rivercool Tropical.

John Boles, the actor, is starring in a new operetta film.

John Edgar Hoover, chief of the G-men, has a much longer title than you suppose. At the moment he's in Washington, and his full title is Director of Federal Bureau of Investigation of the United States Department of Justice.

And that's about all, except of course, Johnny Doughboy, who's in Ireland. . . . According to the reports from Tin Pan Alley, they say he's found himself a rose. . . .

At Home

Rubber Roundup.

The only way to find out how much scrap rubber we have, the president had said, is to gather it all up.

So, from the attic, the garage, and the shallow streams the old tires, rubber heels, water bottles, and punctured football bladders came in. A private, home on furlough in California, gathered up a ton of old tires; a Fresno, Calif., cobbler turned in 20,000 rubber heels, motorists decided the rubber mats in their car trunks would be of more service on the scrap pile.

A Prod for Taxmakers.

When the Roosevelt administration asked congress to provide for $8,700,000,000 in additional revenue early this year, FDR said he didn't much care how it was raised so long as a sales tax was not used.

After months of pondering, the house ways and means committee finally figured out how to raise $6,100,000,000 of the amount asked and announced it might be about ready to quit. Members said they faced the question of stopping or proceeding to consideration of a sales tax. (They had turned down FDR's request that individual incomes be limited to $25,000 after payment of taxes.

A 5% retail sales tax would raise $2,500,000,000 — just the amount needed to raise the difference.

New Backbone.

If there had been any doubt in the minds of lawmakers as to who had won the pre-war argument about the relative power of surface and air craft in naval battles, that doubt was wiped out by reports of what happened in the Coral Sea and off Midway.

And if there was any doubt in the layman's mind about what U. S. seagoing big-wigs had decided on the question it was wiped out, too, by the navy's decision to shelve blueprints on half a dozen battleships, build carriers instead.

To emphasize even more strongly the new-found importance of floating aerial strength, a new 8-billion dollar naval building program approved by the house naval committee calls for 500,000 tons of that type of craft, described by Chairman Vinson as the fleet's "backbone."

But the new "backbone" needs protection, too. Also provided for in the bill were 500,000 tons of cruisers and 900,000 tons of destroyers and escort vessels.

Abroad

Russia: Time's A'wasting.

Germans have lamented that the reason they didn't smash the Red army last year was that winter caught them short. They didn't get started last year until June 22, largely — American experts believe — because the Yugoslav coup in April forced them to devote six weeks to cleaning up the Balkans.

Now it is almost June 22, 1942, and Adolf Hitler's battle wagons haven't been able really to get rolling. Observers agree that it's getting late.

During the week the southern armies of German Marshal von Bock struggled to find a crevice in the Russian line of Marshal Timoshenko. Von Bock's mightiest blows were directed toward Sevastopol and out from Kharkov. But both were more in the nature of clean-up drives than full-fledged offensives toward the main goal of the Caucasus.

Chinese Nutcracker.

The Japanese drives in southeastern China were not spectacular but they were relentless. Day after day the Chinese admitted the Japanese had made new gains in their effort to wipe out hostile forces in the area which contains Allied air bases.

Japan had two main drives. One shooting down from Hangchow in coastal Chekiang province finally entered the town of Chuhsien with its air base in western Chekiang, and Kwangfeng inside Kiangsi province. The other drive was pushing south eastward from Nanchang, Japan's Kiangsi base, for more than 100 miles. At midweek the Japanese lacked only about 50 miles of capturing the entire Chekiang-Kiangsi railroad.

Backset In Libya.

In Libya, after three weeks of fighting in blazing heat and sandstorms, the Axis had the upper hand again in tank and anti-tank strength and at mid-week were crowding the British back toward the approaches to Tobruk.

Both armies, observers felt, had all but reached the limits of their endurance. The first to gain any kind of added strength might surge ahead with almost unbelievable speed.

Quotes

Donald Nelson, chairman of the War Production board: "We actually have in our hands the materials out of which a freer, richer, happier world can be made (after the war). Let no one imagine that we shall lack the good sense to use those materials properly."

Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney stresses the importance of scrap rubber collections: "The scrap campaign is the bridge that must take us over the period until we get synthetic rubber and if that bridge is not constructed, I look for national gasoline rationing."

The British, their strength of American "General Grant" tanks depleted in the intensive 21 days of fighting, had been forced back from the entirety of their 50-mile Ain El Gazala-Bir Hachiem line.

Shangri-La, Maybe?

Where they had started from nobody would say. Where they had been, nobody would say. But everybody knew that four United States bombers had started from somewhere, had been somewhere where they weren't welcome guests, and finally had landed in Turkey and been interned, with three men in one crew injured.

And almost everybody agreed that they had been in action against the Germans, either bombing Rumanian oil fields or attacking the Nazis around besieged Sevastopol. But—nobody would say, at first.

Then there were reports, unofficial, however, that they had bombed Rumania oil tanks and refineries. It was believed they had taken off from Egypt. On that, though, there still was no statement.

Change of Course.

Lieut. James H. Mitchell, coming in to land his fighter plane near a hangar at Mills Field, California, felt the motor fail, saw that his plane was headed straight for the open doors of the hangar.

Banking suddenly, so that one wing touched the ground, Mitchell veered his plane to the left, crashed the side of the hangar. The young pilot, and an enlisted man on the ground, were killed.

But 200 men working inside the open doors were untouched.

No Luck.

They were right, but they were wrong in figuring that they had had a chance to share in a sum that large. Postal Inspector E. J. Mansfield of Jacksonville, Fla., said the lottery was a fraud, that only $32,500 was distributed to winners.

Sixty-five persons were indicted in Detroit as conspirators in the syndicate which U. S. District Attorney J. C. Lehr said, "combined efficient business and racketeering methods" in operating nation-wide lotteries, pools, and policy games.

Burps Diagnosed.

When folks get the burps they usually assume food is fermenting in their stomach. As a matter of fact, Dr. Walter Alzarez of the Mayo Clinic told the American Medical association meeting in Atlantic City, burps come mostly from swallowing air into the stomach. Sometimes such swallowing is just a nervous habit practiced when a person is terribly on edge. One suggestion he made was that people be careful to close their lips over the rim of the glass while drinking.

ORDINANCE NO. 44

AN ORDINANCE FIXING THE RATES, TERMS, AND CONDITIONS UPON WHICH THE OHIO PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY, ITS SUCCESSORS AND ASSIGNS, SHALL SUPPLY ELECTRIC ENERGY TO ALL DOMESTIC CUSTOMERS OF ELECTRICAL ENERGY WITHIN THE VILLAGE OF SOUTH BOULEVARDS, OHIO, DURING THE PERIOD OF 5 YEARS COMMENCING ON THE 1ST DAY OF JULY, 1942, AND ENDING ON THE 1ST DAY OF JULY, 1947.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE VILLAGE OF SOUTH BOULEVARDS, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION I: That The Ohio Public Service Company, its successors or assigns, for a period of five (5) years, commencing July 1st, 1942, and ending July 1st, 1947, shall furnish electric energy to all of the private customers within the Village of South Boulevards, Ohio for domestic uses and purposes and may charge therefor a price determined by and not to exceed the following rates:

RESIDENTIAL ELECTRIC SERVICE

Available for domestic uses to residential customers in the Village of South Boulevards, Ohio for whom a fifteen (15) ampere 115/230 volt meter is of sufficient capacity. This rate is not available for standby or emergency service.

RATE

For the first 65 kilowatt-hours used per month, in excess of those included in the minimum charge, per kilowatt-hour $0.04

For the next 125 kilowatt-hours used per month, per kilowatt-hour $0.025

MINIMUM MONTHLY CHARGE

Lighting, refrigeration, cooking and small appliance service:

For each customer for whom a fifteen (15) ampere 115/230 volt meter is of sufficient capacity, the net minimum monthly charge shall include the use of ten kilowatt-hours at a minimum charge of eighty cents.

For each customer requiring a meter larger than fifteen (15) ampere 115/230 volts, the minimum charge shall be increased sixty (.$0.60) cents per month for each additional five (5) amperes, 115 volts, two wire, of equivalent meter capacity required.

DISCOUNT

None, the above net rate applies only in case a bill is paid within ten days (10) of the date of same. If not so paid, the gross rate, which is the above rate plus ten percent, then applies.

SPECIAL RULES

1. Service shall be supplied hereunder for a period of thirty days and thereafter until terminated by ten days' written notice from either party to the other, except as otherwise provided in the Company's General Service Rules and Regulations.

2. For the purpose of supplying or discontinuing service, a consumer's meter or meters shall not be connected or disconnected at his request more than once each year, except upon payment of one dollar for each additional reconnection. Where service is disconnected for non-payment of bills rendered by the company, a reconnection charge of one dollar may be made when service is re-established.

SECTION II: That service under the rate established in Section I shall be subject to, and in accordance with the General Service Rules and Regulations of The Ohio Public Service Company, as filed with The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

SECTION III: That extension will be made to furnish service to customers in new territory, within the limits of the Village of South Boulevards, Ohio, under the rate established in Section I, subject to the Rules Governing Permanent Extension of Electric Lines of The Ohio Public Service Company, as filed with The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

SECTION IV: That The Ohio Public Service Company, its successors and assigns, in addition to the service provided for in Sections I, II, III of this Ordinance, shall grant, without charge, to the Village of South Boulevards, Ohio, throughout the term provided for by this Ordinance, the right to place and maintain street signs upon and to use the poles and standards of The Ohio Public Service Company for the support of the signal and telephone system of the Fire and Police Departments of the Village of South Boulevards, Ohio; such right, however, shall be exercised at the expense of the Village of South Boulevards, Ohio, and in such manner as to not interfere with the use of the poles or standards by The Ohio Public Service Company. The Village shall comply with Administrative Order No. 72 of The Ohio Public Utilities Commission of Ohio as the same now is or may hereafter be amended. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to require The Ohio Public Service Company to maintain for the use of the Village any pole or poles no longer necessary for The Ohio Public Service Company's use. The Village shall indemnify and save The Ohio Public Service Company and its successors and assigns harmless from all liability, damage, loss, cost or expense arising out of its use of The Ohio Public Service Company's poles and standards.

SECTION V: That if The Ohio Public Service Company agrees to the terms of this ordinance on behalf of itself, its successors and assigns, it shall assent thereto by written acceptance filed in the office of the Clerk of the Council of the Village of South Boulevard, Ohio, within thirty (30) days from the effective date of this ordinance, and thereupon The Ohio Public Service Company shall pay the cost of the publication of this ordinance according to law. This ordinance and the written acceptance thereof shall constitute a valid contract between the Village of South Boulevards, Ohio, and The Ohio Public Service Company, its successors and assigns, for the period of time herein agreed on as stated in Section I herein.

SECTION VI: This Ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed this 2nd day of June, 1942.

R. K. CLARK, Mayor.

Attest: H. B. SCOLES, Clerk.

ORDINANCE NO. 42-120

By Mr. Anderson:

An Ordinance regulating the operation of gasoline filling stations in the City of Mansfield and repealing Ordinance No. 42-52 passed 10th day of March, 1942.

Be it Ordained by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio:

Section 1: It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, or employee thereof to operate a retail gasoline filling station or gasoline pump for more than seventy-two hours in any one week, within the City of Mansfield, Ohio, so as to sell or to be open for business for the purpose of selling for consumption any gasoline or oil incidental to the operation of a motor vehicle.

For the purposes of this Ordinance, a week shall be defined as seven consecutive days commencing at midnight Saturday.

Section 2: It shall be the duty of the owner, operator, or employee thereof in charge of any retail gasoline filling station or gasoline pump to keep posted in a conspicuous place on the premises a schedule of opening and closing hours and under the following conditions: that such schedule must be legibly printed in letters of not less than one inch in height; that for the purpose of the retail sale for consumption of gasoline and oil no retail gasoline station or pump may be kept open in excess of the hours indicated by the schedule and any change in schedule must be made at the beginning of the week.

Section 3: No person in any one week shall operate or keep open for business any retail gasoline filling station or gasoline pump for the retail sale of gasoline or oil for consumption during hours other than those indicated by the posted weekly schedule or when said filling station or pump has already been open for such purposes a total of seventy-two hours in that particular week.

Section 4: Any person violating this Ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not to exceed one hundred dollars ($100.00) and costs of prosecution.

Section 5: Any section of this Ordinance found to be unconstitutional shall in no way invalidate the remaining sections.

Section 6: That Ordinance 41-52 passed 10th day of March, 1942 be and the same is hereby repealed.

Section 7: This Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after earliest period allowed by law.

Passed June 2, 1942.

Signed: HOWARD G. MILLER, President of Council.

Attest: R. R. BLACK, Clerk of Council.

store owners and other self-employed persons, the 10 per cent would be collected every three months.

Of the money thus collected in January and February, 1943, the taxpayer could apply half of the amount as a credit on 1942 taxes, the first installment of which would fall due on March 15. Likewise, half of the withheld money in succeeding quarters of the year could be applied against tax installments as they fall due.

In this way, only half of the 10 per cent of an individual's taxable net income would be considered as payment on 1943 taxes, while the other half would be used up in meeting 1942 levies.

The committee appeared to be deadlocked over administration-sponsored proposals to return to corporations after the war a portion of the war taxes they pay. The committee "agreed in principle" that post-war return should be made to corporations, but has rejected all plans laid before it by treasury experts and members of its own staff.

MANSFIELD BUSINESS IN REVIEW

Mansfield Photo-Engraving Company Helps Firms Meet Crisis In Wartime Marketing

Retain Customers Throught Use of Pictures

Mansfield business houses and customers need more help today than ever before. Because of defense restrictions, they are forced to search for new sources of supply and new materials to replace others that are no longer available.

Helping them in their search is the Mansfield Photo-Engraving company of 127 North Walnut street. Use of illustrations prepared by the engraving company is enabling several Mansfield firms to maintain the interest and confidence of their customers.

Retail and wholesale firms as well as manufacturers unable to fill orders because their facilities are needed for war production or because their regular supplies have been cut by the war need to plan for the future.

The Mansfield Photo-Engraving company is helping Mansfield area companies to gear up for their wartime emergencies. The ammunition being provided the firms include halftone, etchings, color plates, electrotypes, photographs, lettering and designing.

The Mansfield Photo-Engraving company has been helping manufacturers and business firms in north-central Ohio to solve business problems for more than 12 years. Cliff D. Sherrard and Philip O. Dickerson have managed the organization since 1929 when they purchased the engraving department of the Morgan-Todd advertising company.

Serves Mansfield Area

The company serves businesses and industrial firms within a 75-mile radius of Mansfield, giving them skilled craftsmanship and the convenience of completely equipped service.

"Current emergency conditions make it impossible for business to carry on the normal operations that have earned the regard of customers," says Dickerson, who has been in the engraving business for 17 years. "Services are being restricted and products are being withdrawn from the markets. The patience of customers is being tried and customer relationships are being endangered."

Dickerson explains that many firms are guarding against this danger by keeping regular contacts with their old customers even though they are not able to accept orders.

"That's where we come in," says Sherrard. "Those businesses are selling their reputations rather than their merchandise until the war is over. They need pictures and illustrations to accomplish this."

Both men claim that it is a fact that people cannot possibly buy an article, commodity or service of which they have never heard and which they have never seen. Pictures are needed, they say, to present products or services in the most attractive, appealing and informative manner.

Times Have Changed

In the days before mass production, actual display of merchandise and products and personal demonstrations of their functions and uses were the principal, if not the only means of making sales.

The traveling peddler in bygone days carried his merchandise in a pack on his back. He displayed his entire stock to the housewife and demonstrated each article. Later he was superseded by the merchant or "drummer" who had advanced to the horse and buggy stage and could carry a larger stock.

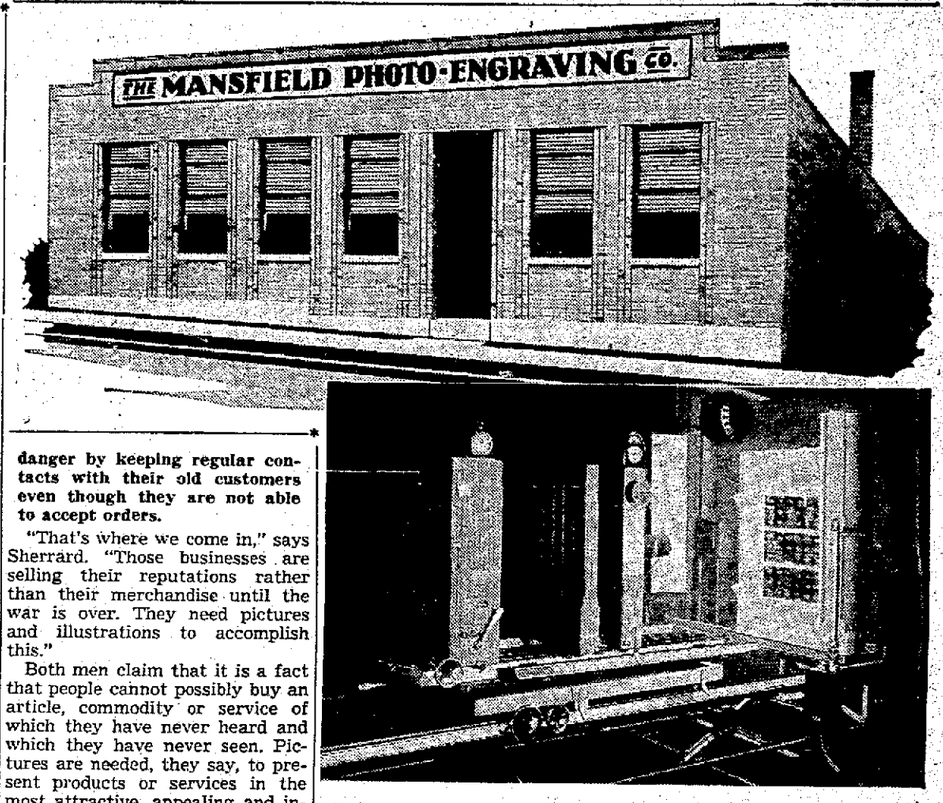
But Mansfield businesses and industrial firms cannot pack their articles on their backs. Mass production or sales require mass distribution and the masses cannot be reached by personal calls. Pictorial advertising has crowded personal demonstration out of the American selling scene.

"Illustrations are needed to show customers what they are going to get for their money," says Dickerson, "and in times like these they are even more important because they help to "brand consciousness."

Dickerson explained that several firms have been unable to supply the well-known items because of wartime restrictions and that customers might forget these particular brands unless reminded of them during the emergency.

"The flexibility and adaptability of photo-engraving affords certain advantages not found in other printing processes," says Sherrard. "First of all, no special preparation of copy is necessary.

"Photo-engraving may be used in many ways. Copy can be released quickly. Printing plates can be speedily made. Photo-engravings can be shipped anywhere and can be used immediately upon reception at practically any printing plant in the country."



Has Modern Plant

The Mansfield Photo-Engraving company has one of the most modern and complete engraving plants in the state and can supply engravings of all types. A large part of the engravings made for advertisements or catalogues used by industrial firms or business houses in north central Ohio are produced at the plant on North Walnut street.

Mechanical superintendent at the plant is James Rakestraw, who has been working with the company for several years.

The establishment of the engraving firm gave Mansfield area business men engraving services not available in any other city within 75 miles of Mansfield.

MEMBERS OF GARFIELD GROUP PLAN SERVICE

Two Elections Made; Plans Set for Initiation and Installation of Officers for July 3 Meeting.

THIRTY members were present yesterday for the meeting of the Lady Garfield council, No. 24, D. of A., in Eagles hall. Mrs. Mary Smith, councillor, presided. Mrs. Allie Garrett was elected trustee and Mrs. Mary Hill, inside sentinel.

The women considered the matter of sending cards of invitation to state officers in this district and surrounding councils and also to members having sons in service, for the July 3 meeting. At that time the degree staff will present a service flag to the council.

Mrs. Judith L. Dunn appointed Mrs. Katherine Hannan as deputy president for the Lady Garfield council. Visitors were Miss Emma Winklefoos, district deputy from Bucyrus, and Mrs. Grace Lehner of the paramount council in Marion.

After the business, Mrs. Smith and her committee, Miss Mary Beilstein, Mrs. Hazel Stichler, Miss Ida Hunter, Mrs. Alice Jenkins and Mrs. Della Cochran, served refreshments.

The table was attractively decorated with summer flowers. Two young people, Joan Janice and John Brandt, favored the group with vocal selections. A piano solo was also given by Joan.

For the meeting on July 3 installation of officers and initiation will be held. The committee will be: Mrs. Mary Altaffer, Mrs. Clara Cramer, Mrs. Pearl Pollock, Mrs. Jane Taylor, Mrs. Fannie Nail and Mrs. Frances Wolf.

Shower Honoring Loretta Carr

Miss Mary Loretta Carr, bride-elect of Lieut. William J Price, was guest of honor for a shower given by her sister, Miss Mollie Carr, 640 Bowman avenue, Thursday evening. Seventeen friends attended.

The gifts were placed under a large umbrella decorated with pink and white paper lace. During the evening games were enjoyed and a two-course luncheon was served at a long table. Pink and white appointments were used having a centerpiece of red roses in a crystal bowl.

The favors were little nut cups in the shape of pink sprinkling cans. Two small tables were also used. The honoree was presented with a set of Lu-Ray china from the hostess.

Alumnae Picnic For 4-H Club

The third meeting of the "Maids of Victory" 4-H club was held at the home of their advisor, Mrs. Seif, Thursday. The business meeting was opened by the club's repeating the Lord's prayer.

Plans were made for an alumnae picnic which is to be held the latter part of the summer. Avis Adkins gave a recitation and Betty Pollock spoke on "Health." The group was divided into sections and spent a half hour working on their projects. Refreshments were served.

Moose Haven Has Final Meeting

The final meeting for the year of the Moose Haven committee of the Women of the Moose was held Thursday evening. The group gathered with the chairman, Mrs. Ruth Whipp, at Paulson's restaurant for dinner at 6:30.

Six members, Mrs. Whipp, Mrs. Nell Piller, Mrs Ethel Underwood, Mrs. Esther Rist, Mrs. Blanche Cantrell, Mrs. Minnie Fox, and one guest, Miss Ruth Roesch the senior regent, were present. Mrs. Whipp read a letter from the adopted couple at Moose Haven. A new chairman will assume her duties in July.

Mansfield Garden Club Hears Talk About Begonias

An interesting lecture on "Tuberous Rooted Begonias" was given by Carleton E. Lowe of Chagrin Falls for members of the Mansfield Garden club Friday at the home of Mrs. Charles Jelliff, Carpenter road. Mr. Lowe introduced the flowers in this country when he returned from serving overseas in the World war. He told the club that "tuberous begonias are the answer to the gardener's prayer for something that will bloom in the shade."

The begonias come in a wide range of colors and a beautiful varieties of form. Mr. Lowe said that "some of the blossoms look as though molded in wax, others so velvety they seem to have been cut from royal cloth. These facts, along with their simple culture requirements, place the tuberous begonias without a rival in the world of shade-loving flowers. They thrive in places without direct sunlight, thus the north side of the house, along the hedge or under trees—wherever beauty and color are most needed are ideal locations for these flowers. They bloom from July until frost."

Specimen blooms were displayed by Mr. Lowe, who also showed movies depicting growth of the begonias from the time the seeds are planted until they blossom. Mrs. Jelliff was assisted by Mrs. Robert Gibson. Lovely centerpiece for the luncheon table was a flat arrangement of red roses and purple violas. On July 10, the club will be entertained by Mrs. William Bowers. Associate hostess will be Mrs. Hamilton Walter. Program will be a play entitled, "It Was a Lovely Meeting."

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, June 21.

Sunday's horoscope shows exceptional activity in all affairs in the realm of heart and home. Social, domestic, artistic, affectional and sentimental matters eclipse all other interests. It is probable this excitement may concern engagements, courtship or marriages. Spiritual affairs all thrive. In all affiliations be careful not to offend superiors, elders or employers.

Those whose birthday it is may have a particularly gay and happy as well as prosperous year in domestic, social, artistic, or emotional affairs, which will overshadow all other interests and aspirations. These should flourish and give unending happiness, if there is determination not to offend employers or superiors.

A child born on this day should have outstanding artistic skill with fine creative talents and versatility. It may have a happy domestic life but not be on agreeable terms with employers or superiors.

For Monday, June 22.

Monday's astrological forecast is for a day of surprising although solid events combining to give security and dependability to affairs generally and the fortunes. Strange or unforeseen developments may give quick and peculiar stimulus to static or crystallized conditions. New ventures as well as public projects are under fine impetus, but all are subject to unwise outlay.

Those whose birthday it is may not be surprised if sudden and strange impetus should give dynamic movement to stagnant and crystallized affairs, long static. New ventures as well as all sorts of public affiliations are under fortunate stimulus, but be careful not to overdo in outlay of funds and personal extravagance. Beware treachery and fraud. Elders assist in stabilizing the fortunes and furthering ambitions.

A child born on this day should have much solid ability, depth and shrewd insight, also much originality of thought.

Dolores Denny Honored on Birthday

Mrs. Clarence Denny, 441 Johns avenue, gave a party yesterday afternoon in honor of the sixth birthday of her daughter, Dolores Jane. Guests attending were: Eva Mae Wharton, Dolores Jane Denny, Marcia Dinninger and Joan Cutnaw, seated. Those standing are: Arlene Christman, Patricia Copeland, Joann Christman, James Copeland, Jack Cutnaw and Jerry Yeager.

Rehearsal Dinner Given for Couple

Mr. and Mrs. William Constance, West Third street, entertained last evening at a rehearsal dinner in honor of the former's sister, Miss Martha Constance, and Otto Bublot of Fairfield, Conn., whose marriage will be an event of Sunday. Centerpiece for the table was an arrangement of red, white and blue flowers.

Miss Constance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Constance, and Mr. Bublot, will be wed in an open church ceremony at the Grace Gospel church at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. A half-hour program of nuptial music will precede the ceremony.

Buckeye Garden Club Meets at Peck Home

Buckeye Garden club members met Friday at the home of Mrs. Howard Peck, 577 Brae Burn road. Following the luncheon which was served at noon, Mrs. Paul Sturges gave the garden calendar for the month, An interesting paper on "Roses" was given by Mrs. Deming Lowrey. There were several lovely flower arrangements.

The club will not have a meeting on July 3, as originally planned. Instead, there will be a conservation picnic on Friday, June 26. Members will visit the city's parks to study conservation.

Jolly Lot Club Has Luncheon

Mrs. Viron Broach was hostess to ten members of the Jolly Lot club at her home, 13 Martha avenue, Thursday afternoon. Associate hostess was Mrs. Charles Theaker.

Winners for the bingo game were Mrs. George Winbigler, Mrs. Mary Bishop and Mrs. D. S. Johns. A lovely luncheon was carried out in a patriotic color scheme. On July 16 the group will hold a picnic with their children at South park.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS MEET

The 4-H club Future Homemakers met recently at the home of Phyllis Adams, Stewart road. The ten members present sewed all afternoon on their project. Mrs. Harold Tingley, adviser, and daughter, Margaret Norma, will entertain the group, July 2, for a covered-dish supper. Miss Elizabeth Day, home demonstration agent, will be the guest and give a demonstration on the care of the sewing machine.

Appleseed Garden Club Has Meeting

Mrs. Charles Sigenthaler entertained 20 members of the Johnny Appleseed Garden club and one guest, John V. Elic of Pasadena, Calif., at her homeon Forest Hill road Friday. Mrs. George Searle presented an intersting paper on "A Child's Approach to Nature." For illustration she used children's books about animals, birds and flowers, and told of games which are instructive as well as entertaining.

Mrs. James Eberle made three flower arrangemets for the occasion. Several bouquets also were arranged by the hostess. Mrs Oliver Henkel and Mrs. Tom Ford presided at the table when tea was served. Net regular meeting will be heldon July 17 at the home of Mrs. Louis J. Ott, 759 Woodhill road. Miss Elizabeth Bay will speak on "Canning."

Shower In Honor of Martha Constance

Approximately 45 members of the Fellowship Prayer band of the Grace Gospel church held a party recently in honor of Miss Martha Constance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Steinhelfer, Lexington.

The honoree received an electrical gift. Luncheon was served buffet style. Miss Constance will become the bride of Otto H. Bublat in an open church ceremony Sunday at the Grace Gospel church.

A cube of gold measuring 14.1 inches weighs a ton.

RECITAL PRESENTED BY YOUNG PIANISTS

Pupils of Elizabeth Glendinning Play for Friends and Relatives at Home on Stewart Avenue Friday Evening.

PIANO PUPILS of Elizabeth Glendinning were presented in a recital Friday evening at her home on Stewart avenue. Friends and relatives enjoyed the following program: "On Hawaiian Shores," by Thompson, and "Irish Reel," by Martin, played at two pianos by Tommy and Jean Hathaway; "Pool at Night," by Hanson, and "Meadow Lark," by Martin, rendered by Elizabeth Clark; "Folk Dance," composition of Beethoven-Krentzlin, presented by Margaret Ann Cook.

Louise Black played "Happy Farmer," by Schuman, and "On the Ice at Sweet Briar," by Crawford. Anne Parsons offered "To a Wild Rose," by MacDowell, and the "Boccherini-Gest "Minuet." Frances Davies played "Waltzes" by Brahms-Maier. The Bach-Spencer "Minuet" was presented by Jean Hathaway.

Seated at two pianos, Margaret Ann Cook and Jean Hathaway played Holst's concerto, "In Elfland." Other duo-piano selections were "Ave Maria," by Bach-Gounod, and "Allegretto Moderatu," from "Concerto In C Major," by Kasschau, played by Joan Senert and Anne Parsons. Brahms' "Waltz," Tschaikowsky's "Themes for Concerto In B-Flat Minor," and Moussorgsky's "Hopak," were presented by Nancy Giles.

Astowela Club Meets Friday

Lovely bouquets of lilies and delphinium decorated the home of Mrs. York Dirlam, 130 Sherman avenue, when she was hostess Friday to the Astowela Garden club. Mrs. D. C. Lavender was associate hostess. Twenty-three members and two guests, Mrs. G. W. Griswold and Mrs. D. W. Peppard, were in attendance.

For the program, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dirlam showed colored movies and stills of gardens and flowers. The pictures were taken on a trip through the south and Ohio. Plans were made to have a picnic in two weeks at the country home of Mrs. W. J. Spreng. Mrs. Harold Balyeat will be associate hostess. Following the meeting the bouquets were taken to the Hill Top Nursing home.

COOKING DEMONSTRATION.

Members of the Two and Ten club were entertained at the home of Mrs. Ross Cole, Alta. Committees were appointed for a picnic being planned for July 12. Myron Miller of the Ohio Public Service company presented a talk and movies on vitamized cooking. A luncheon was prepared and served by Mrs. Irene Oberlin and Mr. Miller. Guests were Mrs. Harold Jacobs and Mrs. Don Cole of Ashland.

Miss Thierlein Given Shower

A miscellaneous shower was held for Miss Dorothy Thierlein by the Misses Aileen and Joan Turner, 445 Glessner avenue on Thursday evening. Miss. Thierlein will become the bride of Alexander Sayers on Sunday, June 28, at the Park Avenue Baptist church in an open church ceremony.

Color scheme for the buffet luncheon was pink and white. Winners for the cootie game were the Misses Eileen Smith, LaVonne Hunter, Mary Brooker and Ida Patterson. They in turn present their awards to the honoree. The hostesses gave her a gift of linen. A bride's book was made during the evening.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thierlein, 249 Rowland avenue and Mr. Sayers is the son of Mrs. L. O. Shields, West Fifth street.

Shower Held for Mrs. G. Bogantz

Mrs. George W. Bogantz, who was Margaret Gages before her marriage to Private Bogantz May 14, was honored with a shower Thursday evening given by Miss Helen Myers and Mrs. Kenneth Dean Light, sister of the bride, at the home of the former, 97 East Dickson avenue.

The evening was spent playing bridge and hearts. Mrs. Bogantz and Mrs Paul Hartman won the prizes. The honoree was the recipient of many lovely gifts and was presented with an electrical gift from the hostesses Luncheon was served at small tables, using rose bowls as center pieces. Other decorations were carried out in a pastel color scheme.

The bride is now residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gages, Park avenue west road, while her husband is serving with the air force overseas.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

There was a finality in my father's voice which told me that he would be extremely disappointed if I did not get the "results" he expected from my forthcoming interview with Ronald.

"If he has any information concerning his sister," he went on, "it is highly important that I know it, for I am sure, as I think you are, that her very elusive personality holds one important clue, at least, to this mess.

"This is no time for scruples," he added sternly, but keeping his voice muted so that Ronald, in the library, could not hear him. "I need not remind you that rescuing Marion is far more important than protectig bruised sensibilities.

"You'll have time to work on him after you get to the hotel, and while I'm at the hideaway. Now let us pick him up and get back to the hotel as soon as we can."

Spencer Displeased.

"I must ask you one question first," I said, knowing my insistence would irritate him, but feeling the vital necessity of knowing the answer. "Your change in plans for me does not disturb me in the least, but for Katharine it will mean a complete disruption of routine. She ought to know about it at once. Shall I telephone her?"

"No!" My father's answer, though so low-toned as to be safe from Ronald's ears, was distinctly explosive. "Do you know me so little as to think I have not already attended to Katharine's notification?"

"Oh, of course not," I murmured with more meekness than I felt.

"Since you have brought up the subject," he went on, "I will tell you now what plans I have made for Katharine. Before I came over here I wrote her a letter explaining what I wish of her, and telling her that Lillian will start for the farm day after tomorrow, if Harry's condition warrants it, which I am sure it will.

"I sent the letter out within the hour by a guard, who took two other trusted men with him. One of them will escort Katharine here; the other two will remain on guard at the farmhouse. I also gave her an apparently innocuous code messge which she is to telephone me as soon as the guard arrives. I did that to satisfy her that the men are not impostors. Does the explanation satisfy you?"

"Perfectly," I said. "I am sorry I put the question. I should have known."

"Don't flagellate yourself too heavily," he answered, with one of his rare impish smiles. "I know I sometimes keep you almost unpardonably in the dark, so I am glad to explain things when I can. And now are you ready to summon Ronald?"

"I am entirely at your service," I told him, and with a quizzical look he opened the door into the library.

Ronald In Low Spirits.

Lillian's unexpectedly affectionate reception of the boy had lifted his spirits only momentarily, as I noted from the complete dejection of his attitude. I fullyagreed with my father's dictum that I must make a tremendous effort if I were to induce Ronald to confide to me the special fear which was riding him.

I tried to speak casually, so as not to startle him, but he sprang to his feet at my "Here we are, Ronald!" and I saw that he was trembling. But in an instant he got hold of himself and even managed a wan smile.

"An open fire always makes me oblivious of anything else," he said.

"I'd like to linger over this one myself," my father said, "but we must be getting back to the hotel. Are you ready to leave, or do you wish to see Mrs. Underwood again?"

A Man's Woman + + +

By Jane Dixon

CHAPTER XI

Kay had reason to remember that first tea. Tally made demands. Tally loved making demands. She wanted this and wanted that. So far as Elsa and Eunice were concerned Kay might have been a robot. They had a way of ignoring her that was more cruel than Tally's crass impertinence

It was after 6 when Tally led her little band of curious from the Sweet Shop.

She stopped to say to Kay with the condescension the lofty reserve for the lowly, "Very nice, m' dear. Imagine you, a working gal and in such a devastating uniform! I'd go in for hard labor myself if I could look that way."

"Good night, my pet," Eunice drawled at Kay. "We've had a perfectly marvelous time at your tea party."

Elsa Kenyon left without sign of recognition for Kay. She was busy primping her hair in the wall mirrors.

In a tiny cubby-hole adjoining the service pantry Kay and Bessie Munsell climbed into their street clothes.

"Some kind soul ought to wring that Tally Holmes' neck," Bessie grumbled. "I remember her back in grade school—always tattling to teacher getting kids into jams. Another one of her wise cracks this evening and I'd have crowned her with a meringe glace"

"No one pays attention to Tally's barbs," Kay was splashing cold water on her face. "Anyhow, we only work here Bessie, and don't forget the customer is always right."

"So I've heard, but I don't believe it. That cousin of yours isn't exactly a bargain I remember her too. She was the class dumb cluck. Did you see her elevating the eyebrows? Couldn't see you at all . . . a speck of dust in the way. What I could do to her with a lemon pie, at ten paces."

Kay laughed, not too convincingly.

"Let's skip it, Bessie," she said. "We've had a big day. Luncheon more than doubled. Tea moved right up, too. Mr. Lord looks like the canary that swallowed the cat. Tomorrow is another day and it's up to us to make it another big day."

Kay left the Sweet shop and turned to the left. Lights were not yet on in Center street, but the narrow cavern, Somerset's main business stem, was filling with dusk.

So absorbed was she with the picture of the day that Kay did not notice she had reached a street intersection and was stepping squarely in the way of a fast-moving car. She felt a moment of premonitory panic, a movement when the world stood still. Then she was caught in a painful grip, jerked violently backward.

She stood uncertainly, only a few inches back from the curbing conscious of the pain in her shoulder, of the breeze from the car that had passed her by a hairsbreadth.

"I . . . I . . . how stupid of me." Her throat was dry, her lips so stiff she had trouble in uttering words. "Did . . . did anything happen?"

"I think not . . . that is, I hope not." It was a man's voice and held a familiar ring. She had heard that voice, only a little while ago, deep-throated resonant. She closed her eyes, shaking off the haze that hung between her and reality. When she opened them, she was seeing blue eyes again Clear blue The stranger!

"I'm Gary Fowler," he reminded her as calmly as though they had met by appointment at this crossroad. "I'm that fellow who's always turning up in your life. Remember? No, you don't. Doesn't matter. I'm going to keep right on introducing myself to you until I register."

A knot of excited people who were witnesses to the so-near accident began to gather.

Kay shivered. "It was horrible," she murmured, "the rush of the car, the wind . . . I can't believe it missed me."

"Try not to think of it," Gary Fowler urged. "If you're able, it might be better to move on. There'll be a crowd in a minute. . . . Would you mind taking my arm? We'll walk along as though nothing has happened, and thank God, it hasn't."

The walk home was a blur to Kay. She had been so close to what she did not dare imagine. Not death. Death she did not fear. But a crushed body, maimed, dragged through the years! Only a miracle, no, a strange young man, had saved her from the fearful tragedy.

"I don't know what to say," she managed after a while. Her voice sounded strange in her ears, shaken. "Thanks . . . no that won't do . . . such a tiny word."

The man said, gently, "Don't try to talk. Just place one foot in front of the other. You're doing fine. One step, two step, one step, two step. That's the ticket. Better slow down a bit. You're getting ahead of me. I have a car parked in the next block."

"Car!" Kay stopped, rigid. Gary could hear the sharp intake of her breath.

What a blunder. How could he be such a dullard? The damage was done. He'd have to repair it.

"Well, maybe you can't exactly call it a car," he said, giving no notice to Kay's reawakened fright. "It has four wheels and what purports to be a body, but I suppose an honest man would call it a go-cart. I've seen a lot of wheel-chairs on boardwalks more impressive. If you'd rather and if you feel up to it, we might walk—that is if you don't mind my tagging along with you."

"Oh, no, I don't mind . . . it's good of you . . . but I must be taking you out of your way . . . I'll be quite all right now I'm sure . . . it's silly of me to be such a baby."

Gary said in that way he had of deepening his voice in serious moments. "You're being a darn brave young woman. You're not taking me out of my way, because" he had almost said, "your way is my way." He changed the impulse quickly to "I was in for a lonely evening and you've taken all the loneliness out of it."

"And almost had you killed doing it." Kay was near to normal again.

Gary scoffed the notion. "Tut, tut," he said. "You're not talking about me . . . maybe about two other fellows. My friends call me Lucky for short."

Ellen Kenyon waited anxiously on the Kenyon front porch as Kay and Gary Fowler came along the path.

"If we could manage it, I'd rather mother didn't know about what—almost happened," Kay said. "It will up set her. She's not strong."

Gary promised, "We'll keep it a dark secret, between us."

"Mother." Kay called as they approached the worn steps. She was free now of Gary's supporting arm. "I've brought a new young man to meet you. This is Gary Fowler. Mr. Fowler, my mother."

"How nice." Ellen received with the graciousness of her generation. "My daughter's young friends are such a joy to me." Then to Kay, with a sigh of relief, "I confess I was getting a little worried about you dear. But of course, on such a wonderful Summer night, time doesn't count. I'll have a bit of supper ready for you in a minute." Ellen was questing her mind What could she find that would be suitable to serve a guest?

"No, no," said Kay, "nothing please, mother . . . not just yet. I'm not in the least hungry. I couldn't possibly eat."

"But the young man."

"I'll have to beg off, too," Gary said with just the right touch of reluctance. "I'm meeting a friend in town. Some other time . . . if I may."

The familiar sound of a motor horn, one long, two short, shattered the twilight.

"Ronnie," Kay said without bothering to conceal her impatience.

Ellen Kenyon said, timidly, "He was here earlier this evening. There was someplace he wanted you to go . . . the country club for dinner I believe it was. Some of the young folks are going there to dance."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

SHOWING GREAT LENGTH

MORE AND more fine players are refraining from using an informative double when they have appreciable length in two suits, but show one of the two suits at once. If the hand is strong enough, they do it with a jump of one more than necessary to over-call the opponent's bid. By thus showing an unbalanced hand to their partners, they encourage suit showing in response, instead of No Trumps when possible stoppers of the hostile suit are held.

	♠ Q 7 5 ♥ Q 8 7 ♦ 8 5 4 ♣ J 5 4 2
♠ A K J 8 4 2 ♥ A 9 3 2 ♦ None ♣ A 9 3	N W E S	♠ 9 6 ♥ K J 5 4 ♦ Q 9 2 ♣ K 10 7 6
	♠ 10 3 ♥ 10 6 ♦ A K J 10 7 6 3 ♣ Q 8

(Dealer: South. East-West vi-nerable.)

South	West	North	East
1. 1 ♦	Dbl	Pass	1 NT
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	3 NT
2. 1 ♦	2 ♠	Pass	3 ♥
Pass	4 ♥

Notice what a tough job East had to select the right bid after his partner doubled at Table . He feared that 2-Hearts would be too weak, that his hand was not strong enough for 3-Hearts and that 1-No Trump would show just about his degree of strength, including a likely diamond stopper. West was afraid to bid only 2-Spades after that, so probably did the best thing with 3-Spades. East now could not show hearts at four, but had to bid 3-No Trumps, which could not be made. After the diabond K, South switched to the heart 10. East ran eight tricks, then had to lose one to North, hepupon diamonds defeated him.

When West showed his strong, but unbalanced, hand with 2-Spades, East shied away from No Trumps to proclaim his hearts. West naturally took that to game. As the cards are located, a grand slam got made, which might have been bid if West had cue-bid the diamonds after East showed hearts, and then had Blackwooded to find what kings East held in the other suits. By that method, 6-Hearts would have been conservative bidding after the original sound start with West's 2-Spades instead of a double.

Your Week-End Lesson

Why is a major suit game contract usually preferable to one at No Trumps when you and your partner possess a fit of four trumps in one hand opposite four in the other, with each of you having a side doubleton in different suits?

Too bad they cancelled the Ohio publinks golf tournament for 1942, and the duration of the war.

Mansfield's state champion in the women's division of the tournament, Thelma Linster, gets to keep the big trophy she won last year at Columbus until the tournament is resumed.

But to gain permanent possession of the trophy she needs to win the tournament two more times. And after a layoff of maybe a year or two from competitive play, it's possible she might find it more difficult to repeat as champion when the tourney starts again.

Although Thelma won the championship two straight years, she has only one "leg" on the "Governor"s trophy," since it was offered for the first time last summer. And, as is more or less customary for such chunks of bric-a-brac, it was put up as a three-year trophy.

* * *

Cancellation of this year's tournament is sad news too for top ranking male golfers on Mansfield's public courses. A flock of them had planned on making the Toledo trip.

Fremont's sport writing Dick Behr reports that the new Ohio State semi-pro baseball league is just as dizzy as the old Ohio State professional loop. And here's a story he tells in support of his claim:

"Last week Marion was playing in Findlay, and the home team was leading 4-1 going into the ninth inning. But Marion went on a spree, and chased six runs across the plate while two men were being retired.

"It was getting darker and darker all the time, so with two out and a count of two balls and two strikes on the batter, Umpire Swisher called the game.

"The score reverted to the eighth inning, and Findlay won, and Marion naturally protested. It couldn't have happened anywhere but in the Ohio State league," Behr maintains.

And Findlay isn't drawing any better than it ever did. With the league-leading Fremont team furnishing the opposition Tuesday night, there were just 16 spectators in the Findlay stands, including two scorekeepers and the wife of a Fremont player.

Red Birds Trip Brewers Twice

(By Associated Press)

The chronological order of things took an odd torn in the American Association last night. Yet from every angle it was a turn for the worse for Milwaukee's crippled Brewers. They lost and so did challenging Kansas City, but the Blues wound up in first place by three percentage points.

Responsible were the Columbus Red Birds. They tripped the Brewers (4-3 and 6-3) in both games of a double header, which was enough to give Kansas City a percentage edge despite a setback at Toledo.

* * *

At Toledo the Mudhens turned on Kansas City, which had beaten them nine straight times, and pounded out a 12 to 2 triumph.

The St. Paul at Indianapolis and Minneapolis at Louisville games were postponed.

Defeated On Freak Home Run

Unlucky Edgar Smith Gets Tough Breaks.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

THE unluckiest man in baseball, by all odds, is Lefty Edgar Smith of the Chicago White Sox.

After he had lost ten games in a row without winning, the fat, good-natured southpaw star thought his tide had turned Sunday when he beat the Washington Senators. He figured he had hit bottom in the game he lost 2-0 to the Philadelphia Athletics although allowing only two hits.

But Smitty learned last night that there are even tougher breaks: the Boston Red Sox beat him 1-0 on a home run when the ball stuck under the bull pen bench at Comiskey park.

Smith waged a magnificent hurling duel with Broadway Charley Wagner of the Red Sox, spacing seven hits to Wagner's six. The only difference between the two was that drive by Dominic DiMaggio which rolled out of sight under the bench and couldn't be found till DiMaggio was crossing the plate.

Smith had been beaten twice before 1-0, twice 2-1, one 4-3 and once, of course 2-0. Altogether he has lost six games by one run.

This dramatic mischance took some of the attention away from the New York Yankees' fourth loss in five games. The Yanks were whipped 5-4 at Cleveland as the veteran Mel Harder pitched four-hit ball.

John Niggeling pitched a four-hit shutout as the St. Louis Browns pelted the Philadelphia Athletics 4-0 and Hal White hurled six-hit ball as the Detroit Tigers trimmed the Washington Senators 5-1.

The Dodgers boosted their National league lead to 6½ games by stopping St. Louis for the second straight time 4-3, Whitlow Wyatt annexing his seventh triumph against one defeat.

Paul Waner's entry into a select group of six all-time stars who have made 3,000 hits—Cobb, Speaker, Wagner, Collins, Lajoie and Anson, all of them in baseball's Hall of Fame—proved just an incident in a thrilling 11-inning struggle which the Pittsburgh Pirates captured from the Boston Braves 7-6.

Cincinnati subdued the Phils 6-4 on a three-run homer by Gee Walker, and the New York Giants beat the Chicago Cubs after losing the first game of a doubleheader 7 to 4.

Paul Brown Plays Cagey

Refuses to Tip Hand On Buck Grid Team.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Ohio State's football team this year will be lighter and faster than 1941's eleven, Coach Paul Brown told Ohio State and University of Illinois gridiron officials.

The athletic directors and coaches of both schools met here yesterday to discuss the Buckeye-Illini contest to be played here Nov. 14.

Unwilling to tip his hand at even this early date, Brown declined to make any predictions about his team's prospects. He only casually mentioned two Massillon high school stars, Horace Gillom and Little Tommy James, who bring to their coach some of the best scholastic talent in the country.

Ray Eliot, new Illinois coach, asked Brown, "is Gillom the guy that kicks 80 yards?"

Brown replied good-naturedly, "not 80 yards, but he kicks very well."

Congratulated on the recent announcement that Tommy Phillips, Berea high school ace, would enter Ohio State, Brown said, "he picked Ohio State over many other schools in order to get into our department of veterinary medicine . . ."

Carbetta Joins Toledo Stable

Jack Laken, Toledo boxing promoter and manager, today announced signing Paul Carbetta, Mansfield featherweight, as a member of the Laken stable of fighters.

Laken said he was impressed with Carbetta's boxing ability when he saw the Mansfield boy in the national amateur tournament at Boston a year ago, and again when he saw Paul defeat Pete Bolos, Detroit favorite, in a bout at Detroit recently.

* * *

Carbetta will train with Pittsburgh Jackie Wilson, featherweight champion, and will appear on fight shows featuring Wilson, Laken said.

REACH SEMI-FINALS

ST. LOUIS —(INS)— Two more doubles teams will reach the semi-finals of the National Clay Courts Tennis tourney in St. Louis today following the play-off of quarter-finals matches.

CHARLESTON WINS WILD BALL GAME

SPRINGFIELD — (AP) — Charleston defeated Springfield 15-13 in a wild Mid-Atlantic league game featured by a futile eight-run Springfield rally in the ninth inning last night.

Erie rallied to score four runs after two were out in the ninth and downed Canton 7-5 to run its string of wins at Canton to five against no losses. Weather forced postponement of the Zanesville-Dayton game.

Teter Repeats Ashland Show

Hell Drivers Ready For Program Sunday.

Lucky Teter fans will have their last opportunity of the year—perhaps for the duration of war—to see the world's champion daredevil tomorrow afternoon at the Ashland fairgrounds.

Three o'clock is the starting time, but the gates will open at noon. From the noon hour until the first high speed event test runs will keep the "early birds" entertained. As evidenced last Sunday under the worst conditions possible, Lucky and his test drivers will present their complete 28-event program rain or shine.

The outstanding events of last Sunday's show will be repeated in addition to new thrillers which Lucky and his Hell Drivers will present next month in a mammoth relief show for the Army Emergency Relief at Indianapolis. The Hell Drivers will go direct to Indianapolis for the benefit performance after Sunday's program at Ashland.

Setting the pace will be Teter's sensationally world's record "Rocket Car Leap," an automobile jump some 220 feet high in the air and 145 feet down the track. Then Lucky will remain inside a speeding sedan as he sends the car into a sensational roll side-over side and end-over-end.

Among the new thrillers will be a death-defying slide George Simon will make through a burning path of gasoline. The blazing inferno will threaten the safety of the ace daredevil, for if he should take a deep breath during the thrilling slide through fire, even the alert Hell Drivers could not reach him in time.

Gas-Housers and Dem Bums Mix It Up

The long-standing rivalry between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers has finally boiled over, with the result pictured above. It started in the sixth inning of a game at Brooklyn when Joe Medwick, himself a former Card, raced to second on a passed ball and slid in with spikes high. Shortstop Martin Marion of the Cards promptly went after Medwick and players of both teams joined the fray. Umpires finally stopped the free-for-all after 10 minutes of battling.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—Looks as if the navy's new 48-hour limit on athletic tours would put a real crimp in the football schedules of those big pre-flight schools. . . . Georgia, for instance, could hardly hop to New England or midwest, play a game and get home in time. . . . Auburn's Jack Meagher, who is handling the schedules for the Georgia outfit and the Jacksonville and Pensacola fliers, may find his own toughening-up program right there. . . . Suggestion for an added event at the A. A. U. track and field championships—throwing the program. It weighs about 1½ pounds on your bathroom scales and contains $75,000 worth of advertising. . . . Otey Crisman, one of the early leaders in the Hale America golf tournament, won his place in the district qualifying by tossing a coin. No doubt the side with the birdie came up.

THE REAL DECOY.

Jim Reed of the Burlington (Ia.) Hawk-Eye Gazette reports that his townsman, John A. Dehner, was about ready to write off the next hunting season as a total loss the other night when his bird dog suddenly decided to make a point on its own dog house. . . . But on investigation, Dehner found a wild wood duck and eight ducklings hiding in the corner.

SCORE 13 RUNS IN OPENING STANZA

Scoring 13 runs in the first inning, Maple Lake softball team defeated John Todd park team 19 to 12 in a public park league tilt at Prospect park Thursday.

Size of the early score didn't scare the Todds, who came back with ten runs in the last four frames.

TRI-STATE TENNIS TOURNAMENT OPENS

CINCINNATI —(AP)— The 41st annual tristate tennis tournament, to be played for the Army Emergency relief, was scheduled to open today, although seeded stars were not due to see action until Monday.

Play today and tomorrow will cut down a field of 77 entrants in men's singles. Women's singles and men's doubles probably will start Monday.

Golfers Find Course Easy

Agree Hale America Tourney Soft Touch.

By GAYLE TALBOT

CHICAGO—(AP)—United States Golf association officials, having seen one contestant round Ridgemoor in 62 and a dozen others turn in equally silly scores, are congratulating themselves for not recognizing the Hale America benefit tournament as the national open.

The last two days have been exciting in a way, and the birdies and eagles undoubtedly will continue through tomorrow, but the players themselves have been the first to insist it isn't related even faintly to championship golf. The U. S. G. A. would have been mighty embarrassed if it had yielded to urging and run up its official flag.

Ridgemoor has proved far too easy for the top stars. Even Mike Turnesa, most phenomenal member of the golfing family at present, thought it funny when he scored a second round 66 — six under par—to go with his 65 of the previous day.

"It's a little tough on Ben Hogan," he laughed. "He shoots a par 72 and then a 62 and I'm still leading him three strokes."

Hogan's 62 yesterday made Ridgemoor look like a pitch-and-putt layout. Ben, himself, conceded it wasn't his greatest golf. It was just a question of having 11 one-putt greens, he said.

"As a matter of fact, that 62 was all a mistake," Hogan chuckled. "I thought they were going to halve the field after 36 holes and I was giving it everything for fear I wouldn't even qualify for the last two rounds. Now I find everybody is going to play the full 72 holes.

"Somebody ought to tell me these things."

As they started the third 18-hole round today, Mike Turnesa stood a good chance of hauling down first prize of $1,100. But he couldn't afford to slip to anywhere near par golf because the field still was close.

Tied with 36-hole totals of 135—a stroke behind Hogan—were two dangerous competitors, Horton Smith and Lawson Little. Smith, the game's greatest putter, might take a lot of beating on Ridgemoor, where putting is everything.

At 136 were Jimmy Demaret and Herman Barron; at 137 Denny Shute, Otey Crisman and Mike Sipula; 138, Harold "Jug" McSpaden, Dick Metz, Johnny Dawson, Bill Dear and Wilford Wehrle, the last two amateurs; and at 139 were Byron Nelson, Ky Laffoon, Lloyd Mangrum and Buck White, eight strokes off the dizzy pace.

PRO TENNIS STARS OPEN TOURNAMENT

NEW YORK — (INS) — Bobby Riggs, last year's amateur title holder, faces Jerome Adler today in the opening match of the national professional tennis tournament. Their match will be followed at Forrest Hills by encounters between Frankie Kovacs and Franklin Meyers, Don Budge, the favorite, and Harold Fenerty, and Berkeley Bell and Frank Rericha.

Blackburn Ranks Second

Ex-Mansfield Player Challenges Bestudik.

CHICAGO —(AP)— Reshuffling of most of the American Association's leading sluggers continued this week but Joe Bestudik, the No. 1 hitter, once more refused to be drawn into the scramble.

The Indianapolis third baseman had a mark of .349 up to Thursday, a decline of sx points under last week's figure, but still 22 points better than his nearest challenger — teammate Wayne Blackburn.

Blackburn boosted his average three more points and moved from third place to second with .327 as Ed Stanky of Milwaukee skidded to sixth in losing 13 points. Don Lang of Kansas City showed the greatest gain among the top men—an advance of six points that lifted him from ninth to a tie for third place.

Here are the high hitters:

Bestudik, .349; Blackburn, .327; Eric Tipton, Kansas City, .323; Lang, .323; Joe Vosmik, Minneapolis, .319; Stanky, .317; Andy Gilbert, Louisville, .314; Huck Geary, Minneapolis, .312; Jim Grant, St. Paul, .308; Hal Peck, Milwaukee, .307.

Bestudik also mantained his No. 1 rating in three other departments; most triples with eight, most hits, 81, and most total bases, 126. Johnny McCarthy of Indianapolis still set the pace in runs batted in with 48, and scored 49 runs, tops in that department.

Harvey Walker of Minneapolis had the most homers, 12; Stanky the most doubles, 22, and George Myatt of Columbus the most stolen bases, 14.

Making Book on A.A.U. Track Meet

NEW YORK — (AP) — Father Knickerbocker's populace turned a very cold shoulder to the junior division of the fifty-fifth annual track and field meet but it is so worked up over today's metric mile that the betting fraternity is making book on the outcome.

The 1,500 meters, 120 yards short of a mile, brings together Leslie MacMitchell, defending champion, and the four men who have defeated him since last spring.

Despite his recent losses, the bookmakers still hold the New York U. graduate as the 6 to 5 favorite with Gil Dodds, the preacher's son, at 8 to 5.

That race, along with the pole vaulting of Cornelius Warmerdam, is expected to fill at least 15,000 of the seats at Randalls Island and make it possible for the A. A. U. to turn over some $75,000 to the army emergency relief fund.

Oris Hockett Changes Mind

Quit Indians This Week, Wins Ball Game.

By RAY BLOSSER

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Rookie Oris Hockett, whose authentic bat gave Cleveland the jump on the New York Yankees in their current hostilities, disclosed today that he had quit the Indians this week—but changed his mind later after talking with his wife.

The stocky outfielder's home run and triple off Lefty Gomez drove home two runs and permitted him to score a third in the Tribe's 5 to 4 triumph over the world champions last night, but except for Mary Katherine Hockett he might have been on his way back to a factory job.

After Wednesday night's game with Washington here, the former Dayton (O.) Mid-Atlantic league fly chaser went to Manager Lou Boudreau and said: "Well, Lou, that was it. Goodbye and good luck to you and the rest of the boys."

Hockett, an expert machinist who had quit minor league baseball several times because he could earn more in a factory, said he could make as much now in industry as in baseball.

"I think I owe it to my family to make the choice."

But after talking with Mrs. Hockett, Oris said he learned to his surprise that she approved of his playing baseball, and changed his mind. He told Boudreau he would stay if Cleveland's 24-year-old manager still wanted him.

Boudreau did—and last night Hockett lined a lusty triple to right center with Roy Weatherly on base in the first inning, and scored on an infield out. Leadoff the fifth, he drove another Gomez pitch into the right field stands of Cleveland stadium for a round tripper, and made it a perfect night by walking on his other two trips to the platter.

Mel Harder gave the Yankees only four hits, but one of them was Phil Rizzuto's smash into the left field stands with another Yankee on base. The Indians collected only five, themselves, but Hockett's clubbing was the difference.

Al Smith was nominated to make it two straight today over the Yanks, who intended to use big Ernie Bonham.

PAUL WANER GETS HIS 3000TH HIT

BOSTON — (UP) — Little Paul Waner, who never has weighed more than 158 pounds during his remarkable 17-year major league baseball career, had his name in the record books today alongside of Cap Anson, Ty Cobb, Eddie Collins, Tris Speaker, Nap Lajoie and Hans Wagner — only major leaguers to make 3,000 or more hits.

Waner made his 3000th hit off Rip Sewell in yesterday's Pittsburgh-Boston game. It was a single to center in the fifth inning with the count two strikes and no balls.

Mansfield Garden Club Hears Talk About Begonias

An interesting lecture on "Tuberous Rooted Begonias" was given by Carleton E. Lowe of Chagrin Falls for members of the Mansfield Garden club Friday at the home of Mrs. Charles Jelliff, Carpenter road. Mr. Lowe introduced the flowers in this country when he returned from serving overseas in the World war. He told the club that "tuberous begonias are the answer to the gardener's prayer for something that will bloom in the shade."

The begonias come in a wide range of colors and a beautiful varieties of form. Mr. Lowe said that "some of the blossoms look as though molded in wax, others so velvety they seem to have been cut from royal cloth. These facts, along with their simple culture requirements, place the tuberous begonias without a rival in the world of shade-loving flowers. They thrive in places without direct sunlight, thus the north side of the house, along the hedge or under trees—wherever beauty and color are most needed are ideal locations for these flowers. They bloom from July until frost."

Specimen blooms were displayed by Mr. Lowe, who also showed movies depicting growth of the begonias from the time the seeds are planted until they blossom. Mrs. Jelliff was assisted by Mrs. Robert Gibson. Lovely centerpiece for the luncheon table was a flat arrangement of red roses and purple violas. On July 10, the club will be entertained by Mrs. William Bowers. Associate hostess will be Mrs. Hamilton Walter. Program will be a play entitled, "It Was a Lovely Meeting."

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, June 21.

Sunday's horoscope shows exceptional activity in all affairs in the realm of heart and home. Social, domestic, artistic, affectional and sentimental matters eclipse all other interests. It is probable this excitement may concern engagements, courtship or marriages. Spiritual affairs all thrive. In all affiliations be careful not to offend superiors, elders or employers.

Those whose birthday it is may have a particularly gay and happy as well as prosperous year in domestic, social, artistic, or emotional affairs, which will overshadow all other interests and aspirations. These should flourish and give unending happiness, if there is determination not to offend employers or superiors.

A child born on this day should have outstanding artistic skill with fine creative talents and versatility. It may have a happy domestic life but not be on agreeable terms with employers or superiors.

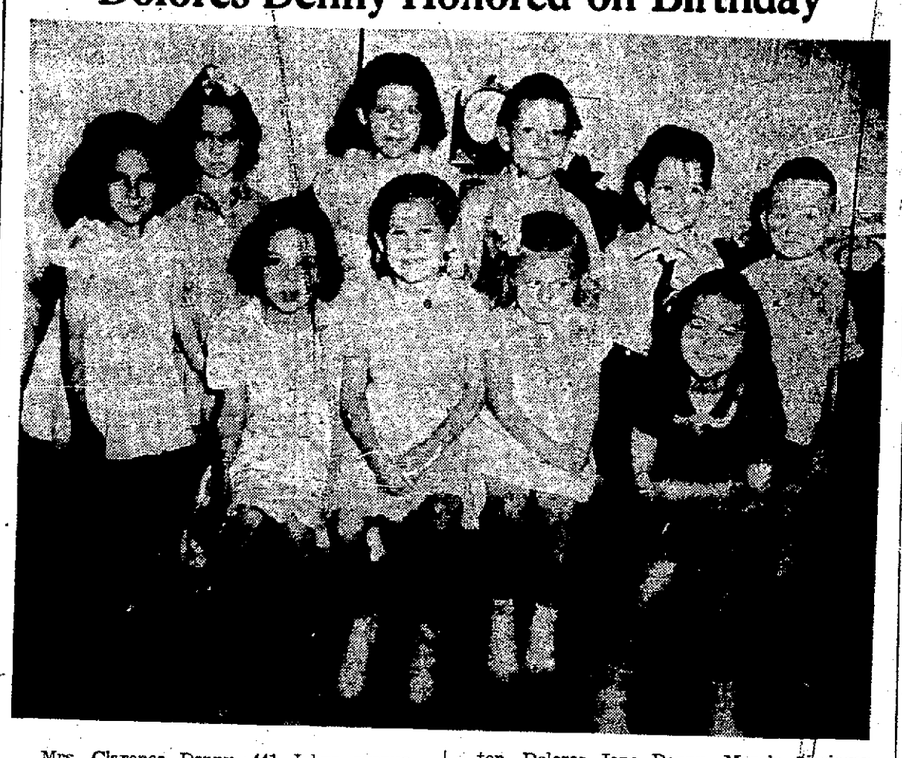
For Monday, June 22.

Monday's astrological forecast is for a day of surprising although solid events combining to give security and dependability to affairs generally and the fortunes. Strange or unforeseen developments may give quick and peculiar stimulus to static or crystallized conditions. New ventures as well as public projects are under fine impetus, but all are subject to unwise outlay.

Those whose birthday it is may not be surprised if sudden and strange impetus should give dynamic movement to stagnant and crystallized affairs, long static. New ventures as well as all sorts of public affiliations are under fortunate stimulus, but be careful not to overdo in outlay of funds and personal extravagance. Beware treachery and fraud. Elders assist in stabilizing the fortunes and furthering ambitions.

A child born on this day should have much solid ability, depth and shrewd insight, also much originality of thought.

Dolores Denny Honored on Birthday



Mrs. Clarence Denny, 441 Johns avenue, gave a party yesterday afternoon in honor of the sixth birthday of her daughter, Dolores Jane. Guests attending were: Eva Mae Wharton, Dolores Jane Denny, Marcia Dinninger and Joan Cutnaw, seated. "Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

There was a finality in my father's voice which told me that he would be extremely disappointed if I did not get the "results" he expected from my forthcoming interview with Ronald.

"If he has any information concerning his sister," he went on, "it is highly important that I know it, for I am sure, as I think you are, that her very elusive personality holds one important clue, at least, to this mess.

"This is no time for scruples," he added sternly, but keeping his voice muted so that Ronald, in the library, could not hear him. "I need not remind you that rescuing Marion is far more important than protectig bruised sensibilities.

"You'll have time to work on him after you get to the hotel, and while I'm at the hideaway. Now let us pick him up and get back to the hotel as soon as we can."

Spencer Displeased.

"I must ask you one question first," I said, knowing my insistence would irritate him, but feeling the vital necessity of knowing the answer. "Your change in plans for me does not disturb me in the least, but for Katharine it will mean a complete disruption of routine. She ought to know about it at once. Shall I telephone her?"

"No!" My father's answer, though so low-toned as to be safe from Ronald's ears, was distinctly explosive. "Do you know me so little as to think I have not already attended to Katharine's notification?"

"Oh, of course not," I murmured with more meekness than I felt.

"Since you have brought up the subject," he went on, "I will tell you now what plans I have made for Katharine. Before I came over here I wrote her a letter explaining what I wish of her, and telling her that Lillian will start for the farm day after tomorrow, if Harry's condition warrants it, which I am sure it will.

"I sent the letter out within the hour by a guard, who took two other trusted men with him. One of them will escort Katharine here; the other two will remain on guard at the farmhouse. I also gave her an apparently innocuous code messge which she is to telephone me as soon as the guard arrives. I did that to satisfy her that the men are not impostors. Does the explanation satisfy you?"

"Perfectly," I said. "I am sorry I put the question. I should have known."

"Don't flagellate yourself too heavily," he answered, with one of his rare impish smiles. "I know I sometimes keep you almost unpardonably in the dark, so I am glad to explain things when I can. And now are you ready to summon Ronald?"

"I am entirely at your service," I told him, and with a quizzical look he opened the door into the library.

Ronald In Low Spirits.

Lillian's unexpectedly affectionate reception of the boy had lifted his spirits only momentarily, as I noted from the complete dejection of his attitude. I fullyagreed with my father's dictum that I must make a tremendous effort if I were to induce Ronald to confide to me the special fear which was riding him.

I tried to speak casually, so as not to startle him, but he sprang to his feet at my "Here we are, Ronald!" and I saw that he was trembling. But in an instant he got hold of himself and even managed a wan smile.

"An open fire always makes me oblivious of anything else," he said.

"I'd like to linger over this one myself," my father said, "but we must be getting back to the hotel. Are you ready to leave, or do you wish to see Mrs. Underwood again?"

CHAPTER XI

Kay had reason to remember that first tea. Tally made demands. Tally loved making demands. She wanted this and wanted that. So far as Elsa and Eunice were concerned Kay might have been a robot. They had a way of ignoring her that was more cruel than Tally's crass impertinence.

It was after 6 when Tally led her little band of curious from the Sweet Shop.

She stopped to say to Kay with the condescension the lofty reserve for the lowly, "Very nice, m' dear. Imagine you, a working gal and in such a devastating uniform! I'd go in for hard labor myself if I could look that way."

"Good night, my pet," Eunice drawled at Kay. "We've had a perfectly marvelous time at your tea party."

Elsa Kenyon left without sign of recognition for Kay. She was busy primping her hair in the wall mirrors.

In a tiny cubby-hole adjoining the service pantry Kay and Bessie Munsell climbed into their street clothes.

"Some kind soul ought to wring that Tally Holmes' neck," Bessie grumbled. "I remember her back in grade school—always tattling to teacher getting kids into jams. Another one of her wise cracks this evening and I'd have crowned her with a meringe glace."

"No one pays attention to Tally's barbs," Kay was splashing cold water on her face. "Anyhow, we only work here Bessie, and don't forget the customer is always right."

"So I've heard, but I don't believe it. That cousin of yours isn't exactly a bargain. I remember her too. She was the class dumb cluck. Did you see her elevating the eyebrows? Couldn't see you at all . . . a speck of dust in the way. What I could do to her with a lemon pie, at ten paces."

Kay laughed, not too convincingly.

"Let's skip it, Bessie," she said. "We've had a big day. Luncheon more than doubled. Tea moved right up, too. Mr. Lord looks like the canary that swallowed the cat. Tomorrow is another day and it's up to us to make it another big day."

Kay left the Sweet shop and turned to the left. Lights were not yet on in Center street, but the narrow cavern, Somerset's main business stem, was filling with dusk.

So absorbed was she with the picture of the day that Kay did not notice she had reached a street intersection and was stepping squarely in the way of a fast-moving car. She felt a moment of premonitory panic, a movement when the world stood still. Then she was caught in a painful grip, jerked violently backward.

She stood uncertainly, only a few inches back from the curbing conscious of the pain in her shoulder, of the breeze from the car that had passed her by a hairsbreadth.

"I . . . I . . . how stupid of me." Her throat was dry, her lips so stiff she had trouble in uttering words. "Did . . . did anything happen?"

"I think not . . . that is, I hope not." It was a man's voice and held a familiar ring. She had heard that voice, only a little while ago, deep-throated resonant. She closed her eyes, shaking off the haze that hung between her and reality. When she opened them, she was seeing blue eyes again. Clear blue. The stranger!

"I'm Gary Fowler," he reminded her as calmly as though they had met by appointment at this crossroad. "I'm that fellow who's always turning up in your life. Remember? No, you don't. Doesn't matter. I'm going to keep right on introducing myself to you until I register."

A knot of excited people who were witnesses to the so-near accident began to gather.

Kay shivered. "It was horrible," she murmured, "the rush of the car, the wind . . . I can't believe it missed me."

"Try not to think of it," Gary Fowler urged. "If you're able, it might be better to move on. There'll be a crowd in a minute. . . . Would you mind taking my arm? We'll walk along as though nothing has happened, and thank God, it hasn't."

The walk home was a blur to Kay. She had been so close to what she did not dare imagine. Not death. Death she did not fear. But a crushed body, maimed, dragged through the years! Only a miracle, no, a strange young man, had saved her from the fearful tragedy.

"I don't know what to say," she managed after a while. Her voice sounded strange in her ears, shaken. "Thanks . . . no that won't do . . . such a tiny word."

The man said, gently, "Don't try to talk. Just place one foot in front of the other. You're doing fine. One step, two step, one step, two step. That's the ticket. Better slow down a bit. You're getting ahead of me. I have a car parked in the next block."

"Car!" Kay stopped, rigid. Gary could hear the sharp intake of her breath.

What a blunder. How could he be such a dullard? The damage was done. He'd have to repair it.

"Well, maybe you can't exactly call it a car," he said, giving no notice to Kay's reawakened fright. "It has four wheels and what purports to be a body, but I suppose an honest man would call it a go-cart. I've seen a lot of wheel-chairs on boardwalks more impressive. If you'd rather and if you feel up to it, we might walk—that is if you don't mind my tagging along with you."

"Oh, no, I don't mind . . . it's good of you . . . but I must be taking you out of your way . . . I'll be quite all right now I'm sure . . . it's silly of me to be such a baby."

Gary said in that way he had of deepening his voice in serious moments. "You're being a darn brave young woman. You're not taking me out of my way, because" he had almost said, "your way is my way." He changed the impulse quickly to "I was in for a lonely evening and you've taken all the loneliness out of it."

"And almost had you killed doing it." Kay was near to normal again.

Gary scoffed the notion. "Tut, tut," he said. "You're not talking about me . . . maybe about two other fellows. My friends call me Lucky for short."

Ellen Kenyon waited anxiously on the Kenyon front porch as Kay and Gary Fowler came along the path.

"If we could manage it, I'd rather mother didn't know about what—almost happened," Kay said. "It will up set her. She's not strong."

Gary promised, "We'll keep it a dark secret, between us."

"Mother," Kay called as they approached the worn steps. She was free now of Gary's supporting arm. "I've brought a new young man to meet you. This is Gary Fowler. Mr. Fowler, my mother."

"How nice." Ellen received with the graciousness of her generation. "My daughter's young friends are such a joy to me." Then to Kay, with a sigh of relief, "I confess I was getting a little worried about you dear. But of course, on such a wonderful Summer night, time doesn't count. I'll have a bit of supper ready for you in a minute." Ellen was questing her mind. What could she find that would be suitable to serve a guest?

"No, no," said Kay, "nothing please, mother . . . not just yet. I'm not in the least hungry. I couldn't possibly eat."

"But the young man."

"I'll have to beg off, too," Gary said with just the right touch of reluctance. "I'm meeting a friend in town. Some other time . . . if I may."

The familiar sound of a motor horn, one long, two short, shattered the twilight.

"Ronnie," Kay said without bothering to conceal her impatience.

Ellen Kenyon said, timidly, "He was here earlier this evening. There was someplace he wanted you to go . . . the country club for dinner I believe it was. Some of the young folks are going there to dance."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

SHOWING GREAT LENGTH

MORE AND more fine players are refraining from using an informative double when they have appreciable length in two suits, but show one of the two suits at once. If the hand is strong enough, they do it with a jump of one more than necessary to over-call the opponent's bid. By thus showing an unbalanced hand to their partners, they encourage suit showing in response, instead of No Trumps when possible stoppers of the hostile suit are held.

	♠ Q 7 5 ♥ Q 8 7 ♦ 8 5 4 ♣ J 5 4 2
♠ A K J 8 4 2 ♥ A 9 3 2 ♦ None ♣ A 9 3	N W E S	♠ 9 6 ♥ K J 5 4 ♦ Q 9 2 ♣ K 10 7 6
	♠ 10 3 ♥ 10 6 ♦ A K J 10 7 6 3 ♣ Q 8

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1. 1 ♦	Dbl	Pass	1 ♥
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	3 ♥
2. 1 ♦	2 ♠	Pass	♥
Pass	4 ♥

Notice what a tough job East had to select the right bid after his partner doubled at Table. He feared that 2-Hearts would be too weak, that his hand was not strong enough for 3-Hearts and that 1-No Trump would show just about his degree of strength, including a likely diamond stopper. West was afraid to bid only 2-Spades after that, so probably did the best thing with 3-Spades. East now could not show hearts at four, but had to bid 3-No Trumps, which could not be made. After the Diabond K, South switched to the heart 10. East ran eight tricks, then had to lose one to North, whereupon diamonds defeated him.

When West showed his strong, but unbalanced, hand with 2-Spades, East shied away from No Trumps to proclaim his hearts. West naturally took that to game. As the cards are located, a grand slam got made, which might have been bid if West had cue-bid the diamonds after East showed hearts, and then had Blackwooded to find what kings East held in the other suits. By that method, 6-Hearts would have been conservative bidding after the original sound start with West's 2-Spades instead of a double.

Your Week-End Lesson

Why is a major suit game contract usually preferable to one at No Trumps when you and your partner possess a fit of four trumps in one hand opposite four in the other, with each of you having a side doubleton in different suits?

Too bad they cancelled the Ohio publinks golf tournament for 1942, and the duration of the war.

Mansfield's state champion in the women's division of the tournament, Thelma Linster, gets to keep the big trophy she won last year at Columbus until the tournament is resumed.

But to gain permanent possession of the trophy she needs to win the tournament two more times. And after a layoff of maybe a year or two from competitive play, it's possible she might find it more difficult to repeat as champion when the tourney starts again.

Although Thelma won the championship two straight years, she has only one "leg" on the "Governor"s trophy," since it was offered for the first time last summer. And, as is more or less customary for such chunks of bric-a-brac, it was put up as a three-year trophy.

* * *

Cancellation of this year's tournament is sad news too for top ranking male golfers on Mansfield's public courses. A flock of them had planned on making the Toledo trip.

Fremont's sport writing Dick Behr reports that the new Ohio State semi-pro baseball league is just as dizzy as the old Ohio State professional loop. And here's a story he tells in support of his claim:

"Last week Marion was playing in Findlay, and the home team was leading 4-1 going into the ninth inning. But Marion went on a spree, and chased six runs across the plate while two men were being retired.

"It was getting darker and darker all the time, so with two out and a count of two balls and two strikes on the batter, Umpire Swisher called the game.

"The score reverted to the eighth inning, and Findlay won, and Marion naturally protested. It couldn't have happened anywhere but in the Ohio State league," Behr maintains.

And Findlay isn't drawing any better than it ever did. With the league-leading Fremont team furnishing the opposition Tuesday night, there were just 16 spectators in the Findlay stands, including two scorekeepers and the wife of a Fremont player.

Red Birds Trip Brewers Twice

(By Associated Press)

The chronological order of things took an odd torn in the American Association last night. Yet from every angle it was a turn for the worse for Milwaukee's crippled Brewers. They lost and so did challenging Kansas City, but the Blues wound up in first place by three percentage points.

Responsible were the Columbus Red Birds. They tripped the Brewers (4-3 and 6-3) in both games of a double header, which was enough to give Kansas City a percentage edge despite a setback at Toledo.

* * *

At Toledo the Mudhens turned on Kansas City, which had beaten them nine straight times, and pounded out a 12 to 2 triumph.

Unlucky Edgar Smith Gets Tough Breaks.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

THE unluckiest man in baseball, by all odds, is Lefty Edgar Smith of the Chicago White Sox.

After he had lost ten games in a row without winning, the fat, good-natured southpaw star thought his tide had turned Sunday when he beat the Washington Senators. He figured he had hit bottom in the game he lost 2-0 to the Philadelphia Athletics although allowing only two hits.

But Smitty learned last night that there are even tougher breaks: the Boston Red Sox beat him 1-0 on a home run when the ball stuck under the bull pen bench at Comiskey park.

Smith waged a magnificent hurling duel with Broadway Charley Wagner of the Red Sox, spacing seven hits to Wagner's six. The only difference between the two was that drive by Dominic DiMaggio which rolled out of sight under the bench and couldn't be found till DiMaggio was crossing the plate.

Smith had been beaten twice before 1-0, twice 2-1, one 4-3 and once, of course 2-0. Altogether he has lost six games by one run.

This dramatic mischance took some of the attention away from the New York Yankees' fourth loss in five games. The Yanks were whipped 5-4 at Cleveland as the veteran Mel Harder pitched four-hit ball.

John Niggeling pitched a four-hit shutout as the St. Louis Browns pelted the Philadelphia Athletics 4-0 and Hal White hurled six-hit ball as the Detroit Tigers trimmed the Washington Senators 5-1.

The Dodgers boosted their National league lead to 6½ games by stopping St. Louis for the second straight time 4-3, Whitlow Wyatt annexing his seventh triumph against one defeat.

Paul Waner's entry into a select group of six all-time stars who have made 3,000 hits—Cobb, Speaker, Wagner, Collins, Lajoie and Anson, all of them in baseball's Hall of Fame—proved just an incident in a thrilling 11-inning struggle which the Pittsburgh Pirates captured from the Boston Braves 7-6.

Cincinnati subdued the Phils 6-4 on a three-run homer by Gee Walker, and the New York Giants beat the Chicago Cubs after losing the first game of a doubleheader 7 to 4.

Paul Brown Plays Cagey

Refuses to Tip Hand On Buck Grid Team.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Ohio State's football team this year will be lighter and faster than 1941's eleven, Coach Paul Brown told Ohio State and University of Illinois gridiron officials.

The athletic directors and coaches of both schools met here yesterday to discuss the Buckeye-Illini contest to be played here Nov. 14.

Unwilling to tip his hand at even this early date, Brown declined to make any predictions about his team's prospects. He only casually mentioned two Massillon high school stars, Horace Gillom and Little Tommy James, who bring to their coach some of the best scholastic talent in the country.

Ray Eliot, new Illinois coach, asked Brown, "is Gillom the guy that kicks 80 yards?"

Brown replied good-naturedly, "not 80 yards, but he kicks very well."

Congratulated on the recent announcement that Tommy Phillips, Berea high school ace, would enter Ohio State, Brown said, "he picked Ohio State over many other schools in order to get into our department of veterinary medicine . . ."

Carbetta Joins Toledo Stable

Jack Laken, Toledo boxing promoter and manager, today announced signing Paul Carbetta, Mansfield featherweight, as a member of the Laken stable of fighters.

Laken said he was impressed with Carbetta's boxing ability when he saw the Mansfield boy in the national amateur tournament at Boston a year ago, and again when he saw Paul defeat Pete Bolos, Detroit favorite, in a bout at Detroit recently.

* * *

Carbetta will train with Pittsburgh Jackie Wilson, featherweight champion, and will appear on fight shows featuring Wilson, Laken said.

REACH SEMI-FINALS

ST. LOUIS —(INS)— Two more doubles teams will reach the semi-finals of the National Clay Courts Tennis tourney in St. Louis today following the play-off of quarter-finals matches.

CHARLESTON WINS WILD BALL GAME

SPRINGFIELD — (AP) — Charleston defeated Springfield 15-13 in a wild Mid-Atlantic league game featured by a futile eight-run Springfield rally in the ninth inning last night.

Erie rallied to score four runs after two were out in the ninth and downed Canton 7-5 to run its string of wins at Canton to five against no losses. Weather forced postponement of the Zanesville-Dayton game.

Teter Repeats Ashland Show

Hell Drivers Ready For Program Sunday.

Lucky Teter fans will have their last opportunity of the year —perhaps for the duration of war—to see the world's champion daredevil tomorrow afternoon at the Ashland fairgrounds.

Three o'clock is the starting time, but the gates will open at noon. From the noon hour until the first high speed event test runs will keep the "early birds" entertained. As evidenced last Sunday under the worst conditions possible, Lucky and his test drivers will present their complete 28-event program rain or shine.

The outstanding events of last Sunday's show will be repeated in addition to new thrillers which Lucky and his Hell Drivers will present next month in a mammoth relief show for the Army Emergency Relief at Indianapolis. The Hell Drivers will go direct to Indianapolis for the benefit performance after Sunday's program at Ashland.

Setting the pace will be Teter's sensationally world's record "Rocket Car Leap," an automobile jump some 220 feet high in the air and 145 feet down the track. Then Lucky will remain inside a speeding sedan as he sends the car into a sensational roll side-over side and end-over-end.

Among the new thrillers will be a death-defying slide George Simon will make through a burning path of gasoline. The blazing inferno will threaten the safety of the ace daredevil, for if he should take a deep breath during the thrilling slide through fire, even the alert Hell Drivers could not reach him in time.

Gas-Housers and Dem Bums Mix It Up

The long-standing rivalry between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers has finally boiled over, with the result pictured above. It started in the sixth inning of a game at Brooklyn when Joe Medwick, himself a former Card, raced to second on a passed ball and slid in with spikes high. Shortstop Martin Marion of the Cards promptly went after Medwick and players of both teams joined the fray. Umpires finally stopped the free-for-all after 10 minutes of battling.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—Looks as if the navy's new 48-hour limit on athletic tours would put a real crimp in the football schedules of those big pre-flight schools. . . . Georgia, for instance, could hardly hop to New England or midwest, play a game and get home in time. . . . Auburn's Jack Meagher, who is handling the schedules for the Georgia outfit and the Jacksonville and Pensacola fliers, may find his own toughening-up program right there. . . . Suggestion for an added event at the A. A. U. track and field championships—throwing the program. It weighs about 1½ pounds on your bathroom scales and contains $75,000 worth of advertising. . . . Otey Crisman, one of the early leaders in the Hale America golf tournament, won his place in the district qualifying by tossing a coin. No doubt the side with the birdie came up.

THE REAL DECOY.

Jim Reed of the Burlington (Ia.) Hawk-Eye Gazette reports that his townsman, John A. Dehner, was about ready to write off the next hunting season as a total loss the other night when his bird dog suddenly decided to make a point on its own dog house. . . . But on investigation, Dehner found a wild wood duck and eight ducklings hiding in the corner.

SCORE 13 RUNS IN OPENING STANZA

Scoring 13 runs in the first inning, Maple Lake softball team defeated John Todd park team 19 to 12 in a public park league tilt at Prospect park Thursday.

Size of the early score didn't scare the Todds, who came back with ten runs in the last four frames.

TRI-STATE TENNIS TOURNAMENT OPENS

CINCINNATI —(AP)— The 41st annual tristate tennis tournament, to be played for the Army Emergency relief, was scheduled to open today, although seeded stars were not due to see action until Monday.

Play today and tomorrow will cut down a field of 77 entrants in men's singles. Women's singles and men's doubles probably will start Monday.

Golfers Find Course Easy

Agree Hale America Tourney Soft Touch.

By GAYLE TALBOT

CHICAGO—(AP)—United States Golf association officials, having seen one contestant round Ridgemoor in 62 and a dozen others turn in equally silly scores, are congratulating themselves for not recognizing the Hale America benefit tournament as the national open.

The last two days have been exciting in a way, and the birdies and eagles undoubtedly will continue through tomorrow, but the players themselves have been the first to insist it isn't related even faintly to championship golf. The U. S. G. A. would have been mighty embarrassed if it had yielded to urging and run up its official flag.

Ridgemoor has proved far too easy for the top stars. Even Mike Turnesa, most phenomenal member of the golfing family at present, thought it funny when he scored a second round 66 — six under par—to go with his 65 of the previous day.

"It's a little tough on Ben Hogan," he laughed. "He shoots a par 72 and then a 62 and I'm still leading him three strokes."

Hogan's 62 yesterday made Ridgemoor look like a pitch-and-putt layout. Ben, himself, conceded it wasn't his greatest golf. It was just a question of having 11 one-putt greens, he said.

"As a matter of fact, that 62 was all a mistake," Hogan chuckled. "I thought they were going to halve the field after 36 holes and I was giving it everything for fear I wouldn't even qualify for the last two rounds. Now I find everybody is going to play the full 72 holes.

"Somebody ought to tell me these things."

As they started the third 18-hole round today, Mike Turnesa stood a good chance of hauling down first prize of $1,100. But he couldn't afford to slip to anywhere near par golf because the field still was close.

Tied with 36-hole totals of 135—a stroke behind Hogan—were two dangerous competitors, Horton Smith and Lawson Little. Smith, the game's greatest putter, might take a lot of beating on Ridgemoor, where putting is everything.

At 136 were Jimmy Demaret and Herman Barron; at 137 Denny Shute, Otey Crisman and Mike Sipula; 138, Harold "Jug" McSpaden, Dick Metz, Johnny Dawson, Bill Dear and Wilford Wehrle, the last two amateurs; and at 139 were Byron Nelson, Ky Laffoon, Lloyd Mangrum and Buck White, eight strokes off the dizzy pace.

Making Book on A.A.U. Track Meet

NEW YORK — (AP) — Father Knickerbocker's populace turned a very cold shoulder to the junior division of the fifty-fifth annual track and field meet but it is so worked up over today's metric mile that the betting fraternity is making book on the outcome.

The 1,500 meters, 120 yards short of a mile, brings together Leslie MacMitchell, defending champion, and the four men who have defeated him since last spring.

Despite his recent losses, the bookmakers still hold the New York U. graduate as the 6 to 5 favorite with Gil Dodds, the preacher's son, at 8 to 5.

That race, along with the pole vaulting of Cornelius Warmerdam, is expected to fill at least 15,000 of the seats at Randalls Island and make it possible for the A. A. U. to turn over some $75,000 to the army emergency relief fund.

PRO TENNIS STARS OPEN TOURNAMENT

Blackburn Ranks Second

Ex-Mansfield Player Challenges Bestudik.

CHICAGO —(AP)— Reshuffling of most of the American Association's leading sluggers continued this week but Joe Bestudik, the No. 1 hitter, once more refused to be drawn into the scramble.

The Indianapolis third baseman had a mark of .349 up to Thursday, a decline of sx points under last week's figure, but still 22 points better than his nearest challenger — teammate Wayne Blackburn.

* * *

Blackburn boosted his average three more points and moved from third place to second with .327 as Ed Stanky of Milwaukee skidded to sixth in losing 13 points. Don Lang of Kansas City showed the greatest gain among the top men—an advance of six points that lifted him from ninth to a tie for third place.

Here are the high hitters:

Bestudik, .349; Blackburn, .327; Eric Tipton, Kansas City, .323; Lang, .323; Joe Vosmik, Minneapolis, .319; Stanky, .317; Andy Gilbert, Louisville, .314; Huck Geary, Minneapolis, .312; Jim Grant, St. Paul, .308; Hal Peck, Milwaukee, .307.

Bestudik also mantained his No. 1 rating in three other departments; most triples with eight, most hits, 81, and most total bases, 126. Johnny McCarthy of Indianapolis still set the pace in runs batted in with 48, and scored 49 runs, tops in that department.

Harvey Walker of Minneapolis had the most homers, 12; Stanky the most doubles, 22, and George Myatt of Columbus the most stolen bases, 14.

* * *

Oris Hockett Changes Mind

Quit Indians This Week, Wins Ball Game.

By RAY BLOSSER

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Rookie Oris Hockett, whose authentic bat gave Cleveland the jump on the New York Yankees in their current hostilities, disclosed today that he had quit the Indians this week—but changed his mind later after talking with his wife.

The stocky outfielder's home run and triple off Lefty Gomez drove home two runs and permitted him to score a third in the Tribe's 5 to 4 triumph over the world champions last night, but except for Mary Katherine Hockett he might have been on his way back to a factory job.

After Wednesday night's game with Washington here, the former Dayton (O.) Mid-Atlantic league fly chaser went to Manager Lou Boudreau and said: "Well, Lou, that was it. Goodbye and good luck to you and the rest of the boys."

Hockett, an expert machinist who had quit minor league baseball several times because he could earn more in a factory, said he could make as much now in industry as in baseball.

"I think I owe it to my family to make the choice."

But after talking with Mrs. Hockett, Oris said he learned to his surprise that she approved of his playing baseball, and changed his mind. He told Boudreau he would stay if Cleveland's 24-year-old manager still wanted him.

Boudreau did—and last night Hockett lined a lusty triple to right center with Roy Weatherly on base in the first inning, and scored on an infield out. Leadoff the fifth, he drove another Gomez pitch into the right field stands of Cleveland stadium for a round tripper, and made it a perfect night by walking on his other two trips to the platter.

Mel Harder gave the Yankees only four hits, but one of them was Phil Rizzuto's smash into the left field stands with another Yankee on base. The Indians collected only five themselves, but Hockett's clubbing was the difference.

Al Smith was nominated to make it two straight today over the Yanks, who intended to use big Ernie Bonham.

PAUL WANER GETS HIS 3000TH HIT

BOSTON — (U.P.) — Little Paul Waner, who never has weighed more than 158 pounds during his remarkable 17-year major league baseball career, had his name in the record books today alongside of Cap Anson, Ty Cobb Eddie Collins, Tris Speaker, Nap Lajoie and Hans Wagner — only major leaguers to make 3,000 or more hits.

Waner made his 3000th hit off Rip Sewell in yesterday's Pittsburgh-Boston game. It was a single to center in the fifth inning with the count two strikes and no balls.

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone: Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane or Miss Stone, either will be glad to render whatever service and advice you need.

GOING - GOING
Yes these last few brick homes are fast disappearing. I have left only one 5-room brick veneer bungalow. The arrangement is something you dream about. Bath is in rich colored tile, full fireplace in the living room, open stairway and a kitchen that is a woman's delight. The basement is partitioned and has electric water heater. Better see this one now. The price? Only $6450.00. I also have two 6-room two-story homes priced $7250 and $7850.

STOCK MARKET TRENDS HAVE CLOUDY SHADE

Small Declines Posted By Some Leaders, Others Get Slight Boost.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Stock market trends remained cloudy in today's transactions.

Small declines were posted for Woolworth, American Smelting, American Telephone, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft and International Nickel. A shade ahead were Erie common, Baltimore & Ohio, Consolidated Edison and General Electric. General Motors was unchanged, along with numerous others.

Market analysts found a grain of comfort in the General Motors summary disclosing the number of common and preferred stockholders in the company in the second quarter of 1942 rose to 414,852, a new record for this concern. The figure compared with 413,276 in the first quarter and 411,372 in the second three months of 1941.

The British press and public generally were observing the week-end as the anniversary of "The day on which Hitler lost the war." Germany invaded Russia last June 22.

300 British Bombers Pound At Emden

LONDON—(UP)—A big force of British long range bombing planes, estimated to number up to 300, fought through hundreds of miles of stormy weather during the night to bomb the German naval and submarine base of Emden and the great railroad center of Osnabruck.

So bad was the weather, which after a brief break had turned suddenly stormy again, that it was feared at first the raid was a comparative failure.

But the planes returned to report success.

Aside from the concentrated raids on the two chief objectives, the planes bombed secondary targets in the area and attacked enemy held airdromes in Holland.

Nine planes were missing after the night's operations, the first—because of the bad weather—since the raid Tuesday night on the Ruhr and Rhineland.

Berlin reported that the planes did "slight" damage to the usual "residential quarters" and that one had been shot down.

LADY SOLDIERS TO HAVE DEAN

WAAC Gals Also Will Have Their Own Beauty Shop.

DES MOINES, Ia.—(INS)—Army life for women won't be exactly what it is for men. There will be a dean of women, keeping an eye on the instruction to see that it is not too strenuous, and there will be a beauty parlor.

Arrangements for these feminine touches were being made today at Fort Des Moines, where the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps will soon begin the training of women officers. The dean of women, not yet selected, will be like a college dean of women, and the soldier girls may consult her about their problems.

The women trainees will be on a rigid schedule from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m.

TALKS FATEFUL TO CHURCHILL

the hard-pressed British in North Africa likely will result.

Probably of equal importance is the question of opening a second front to relieve pressure on the Soviet union. The German siege of Russia's naval base at Sevastopol has reached a peak of fury and developments there may indicate the probable outcome of the Nazi summer drive.

Other urgent and corollary problems—such as shipping and supply—undoubtedly are being discussed. Any Allied invasion necessarily requires careful and minute preparations in these and other vital matters.

London informants portrayed Churchill as facing distrust of his military leadership in some British quarters and as asking for urgent American reinforcements to stabilize the Mediterranean front.

There was speculation here that Churchill may seek the basing of additional American air forces in North Africa in an effort to hammer at remnants of the Italian fleet and to strike at German Gen. Erwin Rommel's mechanized units which forced the British withdrawal.

African-based airmen gave a good account of themselves in their initial Mediterranean clash on Monday, scoring a considerable number of hits on two of Italy's biggest battleships.

If Mr. Roosevelt agrees to divert more men and material to that theater, a serious problem would arise on the question of supply lines Allied convoys still are open to Axis attacks despite the successful bombardment of the Italian fleet and the route through the Red Sea to Suez is so long it would place an even greater strain on an already overloaded shipping capacity.

Some sources here were confident that more American assistance will be promised despite the transportation difficulties They felt such aid would permit strong counter-strokes against Rommel's Libyan forces and might do much to redeem faith in Churchill's military leadership at home.

YOUTH HELD

Ohioan, 15, Questioned In Shooting At Los Angeles Gallery.

LOS ANGELES —(INS)— A 15-year-old run-away boy from Dover, Ohio, was held by juvenile authorities today as an aftermath to the fatal wounding of a shooting gallery attendant last night.

The attendant, William R. Arnell, 35, was shot through the stomach and died shortly after a target rifle discharged during a scuffle between the boy, Bob Kaiser, and a soldier on furlough, Private Jacob Herman, member of a medical corps unit, for possession of the weapon.

AXIS STALLED IN THRUST AT EASTERN LIBYA

Strong British Opposition Turns Back Two Columns Driving On Bardia.

northeastward to take the town of Gambut and sever the coast road leading to Egypt.

Rommel's tank forces were reported approaching the port of Bardia close to the Egyptian frontier following the capture of Gambut. The Axis spearheads were divided into two columns, one pushing eastward along the coast road from the Tobruk area and the other moving along the southern road in the direction of Capuzzo, adjacent to Solum and Halfaya.

Although the Axis panzer forces were understood to be following up their successes in central Libya and rapidly bearing down on the British Eighth army's heavily fortified positions on the Egyptian border there so far has been no indications that any enemy units have reached the frontier.

The main British forces under command of Lieut. Gen Neil Methuen Ritchie lodged themselves behind strong fortifications at Halfaya (Hell Fire) pass.

Other imperial units remained out in the desert to conduct sorties against the Axis columns and confine them to the coastal strip.

An estimated force of 80,000 men, with the sides about equally divided, opposed each other as the new struggle for possession of Tobruk began.

There still was no indication that the British might decide to abandon Tobruk as was hinted as a possibility in London yesterday.

(The Daily Express in London reported a dispatch from the Egyptian frontier saying that the easternmost Libyan port of Bardia was indefensible and was being evacuated after scorched earth tactics were carried out to prevent anything of value from falling into the hands of the enemy.)

Expect Paratroops In Tobruk Attack

LONDON—(UP)—Germany may use parachute troops in an all-out attempt to capture the British stronghold of Tobruk, on the Libya coast, and thus clear the way for a big scale attack on the main British forces on the Egyptian frontier, military quarters reported today.

Rome Claims New Success In Libya

ROME — (By Official Italian Wireless) —(INS)—Axis forces have made successful new thrusts in Libya, capturing quantities of war material and several hundred prisoners, the Italian high command claimed today.

Italian planes were said to have bombed Tobruk, while two British planes were shot down over Axis lines by anti-aircraft fire.

UP IN AIR ON PLANS FOR FAIR

County Board Still Awaiting Official Word to Cancel 1942 Farm Show.

transportation problem at length last winter and finally decided on the fair, primarily because it serves as a place for rural youth groups to show their summer projects.

Members of the Ohio Fair Managers' association who will make the trip to Washington are Ralph C. Haines of Dayton, its president, and former Governor Myers Y. Cooper of Cincinnati, the honorary president.

In the face of Eastman's request to call off fairs and Gov. John Bricker's statement that boards in the state would comply, the Columbiana county board today asserted that the fair there will go on as usual.

A number of boards protested that they have their plans completed and have gone to considerable expense to obtain attractions for their fairs.

In Richland county, all the concessions and rides have been sold, advertising has been prepared, and the premium books are nearly ready to go out to exhibitors.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Posts Bond—Charles Beard, 151 West Third street, was arrested last night on North Walnut street by Mansfield police on a disorderly conduct charge. He posted $16.30 bond pending arraignment in municipal court.

Loses Driving Right—J. A. Norris, 17, Mansfield R. D. 2, lost his right to drive an automobile for six months yesterday when arraigned in Richland county probate court on a charge of operating an auto without an operator's license. Norris was arested by city police on Diamond street.

Hear Bromfield—Author-Farmer Louis Bromfield was scheduled to speak at the opening session of the two-day meeting of the League of Ohio Nature clubs today in Columbus on the subject: "Cooperation in Restoration and Conservation of Ohio's Soil and Water."

Driver Fined — Pleading guilty to a charge of speeding on U. S. Route 42 last night, William R. Moritz, 25, of Lakewood, was fined $5 and costs by Mayor R. C. Booher of Mt. Gilead. He was arrested by state highway patrolmen.

Picnic Arranged — The seventh annual outing of ex-window glass workers will be held at Rising Sun Park, Lancaster, July 12, Ernest L. Zartman, secretary, announced today—adding the word of caution, "tire and gas situation permitting."

Has Operation—Joel E. Homerick, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Homerick, Lincoln Heights, submitted to an operation at Cleveland clinic Wednesday. His condition was reported good today.

Date Changed — The general meeting of the war chest committee now being organized will be held Monday, June 29, in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 7:30 p. m. instead of June 22, it was announced today. At that time an executive board will be elected.

Dies At Marion—Mrs. Daniel W. Brickley, jr., 36, daughter of Mrs. Charles Shedherd, former Mansfield resident, died Friday at her home in Marion following a brief illness. Surviving are her husband and mother, and a son, Daniel. Funeral services will be held in Marion Monday.

To Tell About India—Dr. Alfred W. Andreason, of Ashland, will be the speaker at next Tuesday's meeting of the Rotary club, to be held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel at 11:45 a. m. His subject will be "My Fourteen Years In India."

will be held during the time accepted men are home on furlough and when they leave at the expiration of their furloughs.

Today's group, although it filled three buses, was small compared to the contingent which will leave Mansfield in July and in August. The three draft boards have received their calls for unusually large groups of men next month, and they expect similar calls the following month

A score of the men who left today were married, principally those who were married since President Roosevelt's draft proclamation on Sept. 16, 1940. Several of the group have children.

The buses in which the men left were stationed in front of the Richland Trust building, and traffic was blocked off at the north side of the square. Music was provided by a sound truck, with James Brownscombe acting as master of ceremonies and John Grabler leading community singing

THEATERS

Revives Old Broadway.

Victor Mature brings the erstwhile toast of Broadway, Paul Dresser, to the Ohio screen in "My Gal Sal," technicolor musical romance based on the life of Dresser, brother of the noted author, Theodore Dreisser. Dresser reached fame after a slow climb from the medicine show route and wore success lightly and jauntily on his shoulders. Rita Hayworth, John Sutton and a stellar cast appear in the picture that is embellished with several elaborate production numbers.

Rollicking Comedy.

"The Tuttles of Tahati," Charles Laughton's rollicking comedy showing at the Madison, presents a colorful panorama of South Seas life and its carefree inhabitants. Laughton has the role of the lazy, good-natured head of a prolific family, mixture of Polynesian and sea-faring New England, who depends upon a fighting cock to bring him fortune. Florence Bates plays a confidence woman and Jon Hall and Peggy Drake furnish the romantic interest.

Romantic Story.

The stirring story of a man who tried to recapture the romance of his youth but discovers it is too late is unfolded in "H. M. Pulham, Esq.," opening Sunday at the Ritz with Hedy Lamarr and Robert Young in the leading roles. Young plays a Bostonian who falls in love with one girl right after the World war but is forced by family tradition to marry another. Ruth Hussey has the role of the wife. "Ride 'Em Cowboy," an Abbott and Costello comedy is the second attraction.

Hollywood Drama.

An unscrupulous promoter strands a pair of sisters in Hollywood after a phony beauty contest in "Girls' Town," the Park attraction opening Sunday. Edith Fellows and June Storey play the pair who find refuge in a cooperative boarding house known as "Girls' Town." Kenneth Howell and Warren Hymer are cast. "Two Yanks In Trinidad," with Pat O'Brien, Brian Donlevy and Janet Blair is the co-feature.

spent there as a medical missionary and officer of a leper colony. Judge Edwin Mansfield will be program chairman.

Arrest Motorists — Two Mansfield motorists were arrested yesterday by police on unsafe operation charges. Alice R. Milligan, 156 Rae avenue, was arrested at the intersection of West Fourth street and Penn avenue while Robert Rush, Mansfield, was arested on Park avenue east. Police said Rush's car was weaving from side to side and just missed two parked cars.

TILLIE THE TOILER

MUMSY, PRIVATE LANE IS AN AGRICULTURAL EXPERT. HE KNOWS ABOUT GARDENS AND HOW TO GET RID OF INSECTS
HE'LL COME IN HANDY
AND YOU WON'T LET ANY HORRID INSECTS COME INTO MY GARDEN AND EAT THINGS, WILL YOU?
I'LL ANNIHILATE THEM
USO
NO INSECT SHALL ENTER YOUR GARDEN AND LIVE
WELL, YOU MAY BE GOOD AT KEEPING INSECTS OUT OF GARDENS, BUT YOU'RE SURE LETTING 'EM INTO A HOUSE
RUSS COSTOVER
MUMSY, PRIVATE LANE IS PUTTING SOME CHEMICALS ON MY GARDEN
IF HE'S AN EXPERT, HE OUGHT TO KNOW WHAT HE'S DOING
ZZRING
OH, BUBBLES, YOU DON'T KNOW WHAT YOU'RE MISSING BY NOT HAVING A VICTORY GARDEN
I DON'T MIND MISSING IT

BUT RAISING FOOD IS PATRIOTIC. I'M HELPING OUR ARMED FORCES
YEAH?
THE WAY IT LOOKS FROM HERE, THE ARMED FORCES ARE HELPING YOU
RUSS COSTOVER
TILLIE, THAT'S TOBY LANE WHO SAVED SO MANY MEN WHEN THE MUNITIONS DUMP CAUGHT FIRE
6-17
HE'S ON A LONG FURLOUGH BECAUSE OF SOME INJURIES
AND HE'S AN AGRICULTURAL EXPERT WHO KNOWS ABOUT INSECTS, AND WILT AND BLIGHT
JUST THINK, BUBBLES, HE'S A HERO AND I CAN TELL BY HIS EYES THAT HE CARES FOR ME
WELL, I KNOW SOMETHING ABOUT WILT AND BLIGHT. MY HOPES ARE WILTED AND BLIGHTED RIGHT NOW
RUSS COSTOVER
PRIVATE LANE IS GIVING ME GRAND HELP WITH MY GARDEN
IF ONE MAN DIDN'T HELP YOU SOME OTHER MAN WOULD THERE'S SOME INSECT RUINING MY TOMATO PLANTS
MINE, TOO. WELL, THIS BOOK TELLS WHAT IT IS. IT'S THE ARMY WORM
WE WERE DOING FINE TILL THAT BLAMED ARMY WORM GOT INTO OUR GARDEN
U.S.O.

TOOTS AND CASPER

TOOTS, I DON'T KNOW WHETHER COLONEL HOOFER IS TO BE TRUSTED OR NOT!
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
HE WORKS DAYTIME AT AN AIR-PLANE PLANT, AND EVERY NIGHT HE GOES OUT AFTER DINNER AND DOESN'T COME IN UNTIL ABOUT 2.30 A.M.
I WONDER IF HE HAS A GIRL ON THE STRING? I HATE TO MISTRUST HIM, BUT YOU CAN'T TRUST SOME MEN ANY FURTHER THAN YOU CAN THROW AN ELEPHANT BY THE TAIL.
JIMMY MURPHY
6-15
CASPER, I WONDER WHAT COLONEL HOOFER IS UP TO, NIGHTS? HE GOES OUT AFTER DINNER AND NEVER RETURNS UNTIL 2.30 A.M.
HE ISN'T HAVING A DATE, TOOTS, BECAUSE NO GIRL WOULD EVER GIVE HIM A SECOND LOOK.
SOPHIE OUGHT TO PUT A DETECTIVE ON HIS TRAIL!
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
THAT WOULD BE A WASTE OF MONEY, AND IF SHE KNEW WHAT HE'S UP TO, IT WOULD SPOIL ALL HER FUN IN SUSPECTING HIM.
HE'LL LET THE CAT OUT OF THE BAG, HIMSELF, SOMEDAY. HE NEVER COULD KEEP A SECRET.
JIMMY MURPHY
USO
WHAT ARE YOU UP TO, COLONEL HOOFER, STAYING OUT EVERY NIGHT UNTIL TWO OR THREE IN THE MORNING?
I'LL TELL YOU, CASPER, IF YOU WON'T TELL ANYONE---NOT EVEN TOOTS.
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
I PROMISE!
OKAY, HERE'S WHAT I DO NIGHTS--BUZZ-BUZZ-BUZZ--BECAUSE---BUZZ-BUZZ-BUZZ-BUZZ---BUZZ---
6-17
WHY, I CAN HARDLY BELIEVE IT OF YOU--- YOU OF ALL PEOPLE!
MAYBE I WAS FOOLISH TO TELL YOU, BUT YOU SAID YOU'D KEEP IT A SECRET AND I KNOW YOU WILL!
JIMMY MURPHY
CASPER, I DON'T KNOW HOW COL. HOOFER STANDS IT, WORKING DAYS, AND STAYING OUT NIGHTS UNTIL 2.30 IN THE MORNING
I WONDER IF THERE'S A WOMAN IN THE CASE.
OF COURSE, EVERYBODY SUSPECTS THE WORST--NOBODY WOULD THINK NICE OF HIM.
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
COLONEL HOOFER TOLD ME WHAT HE'S UP TO, BUT I'LL NOT TELL IT TO ANYONE... HE SURE TOOK MY BREATH AWAY--- I CAN'T IMAGINE HIM DOING SUCH A THING--- IT'S ALMOST UNBELIEVABLE
JIMMY MURPHY
WHAT IS COLONEL HOOFER UP TO, ANYWAY?
HE'S GOT US ALL GUESSING.
SOPHIE, IT'S SEVEN P.M. NOW, AND I'VE GOTTA BE GOING.
YOU'LL RUIN YOUR HEALTH, COLONEL HOOFER, WORKING ALL DAY AND CAROUSING EVERY NIGHT.
6-19
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
WHERE DO YOU GO NIGHTS? WHAT ARE YOU UP TO? ANSWER ME!
ASK ME NO QUESTIONS AND I'LL TELL YOU NO LIES.
HE'S BEEN PUTTING IT OVER ON ME LONG ENOUGH. I KNOW HOW TO FIND OUT WHAT HE'S UP TO! I'VE A SWELL IDEA.
JIMMY MURPHY
WE KNOW THAT COLONEL HOOFER WORKS DAYTIMES IN AN AIR-PLANE FACTORY, BUT WHAT DOES HE DO EVERY NIGHT?
TOOTS, I KNOW HOW TO FIND OUT WHAT COL. HOOFER DOES NIGHTS! HELP ME TO CHANGE MY HAIR DRESS AND DISGUISE MY FACE
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
6-20
HOW'S THAT, SOPHIE?
FINE, TOOTS, NOW LET ME HAVE MY LIP-STICK, MY EYE-BROW PENCIL, AND THE EYE-GLASSES I BOUGHT.
USO
JIMMY MURPHY
HE'LL NEVER RECOGNIZE ME NOW! I'LL PRETEND I'M GOING OUT OF TOWN, BUT INSTEAD I'LL STICK AROUND AND STRIKE UP A FLIRTATION WITH HIM, UNDER AN ASSUMED NAME.

SECRET AGENT X-9

AS X-9 IS LEAVING SAVANNAH SALEM'S HOTEL...
THAT IS THE MAN I HAVE BEEN TELLING YOU ABOUT, PRINCE CAESAR!
A FREQUENT VISITOR OF MISS SALEM'S, YOU SAY?
YES! HE MAY BE BUT AN UNWELCOME SUITOR...I HEARD HER ORDER HIM AWAY.
HE DOES NOT LOOK LIKE THE TYPE WHO ANNOYS WOMEN. RATHER, HE WOULD BE PURSUED BY THE FAIR SEX! HE MUST HAVE SOME OTHER INTEREST IN OUR MISS SALEM!
FOLLOW HIM!
DEAL WITH HIM AS YOU SEE FIT, CAPTAIN! THE GIRL WILL BE IN MY CHARGE FROM NOW ON, AND IF SHE IS PLANNING TO SELL US OUT——!
RIGHT!
MEL GRAFF
WELL, WHAT DID YOU FIND OUT ABOUT THAT MAN?
ENOUGH TO BE ALARMING, PRINCE CAESAR!
I HAVE LEARNED BEYOND A DOUBT THAT HE IS AN FBI AGENT! THERE IS NO TELLING HOW MUCH HE KNOWS!
WAIT! LET ME THINK THIS OUT!
SAVANNAH SALEM HAS NOT SPOKEN TO ME OF THIS MAN. EITHER SHE IS IGNORANT OF HIS IDENTITY...OR SHE IS DOUBLE-CROSSING US!
I HAVE ARRANGED TO TAKE HER TO THE "CHATEAU" WITH ME...MEANWHILE, KEEP THE AGENT UNDER THE UTMOST SURVEILLANCE!
MEL GRAFF 6-16
IS IT INDISCREET TO ASK WHERE WE ARE GOING, PRINCE CAESAR?
NOT AT ALL, MY DEAR!
I AM TAKING YOU TO MY HOME IN THE COUNTRY... A MELLOW, OLD-WORLD CHATEAU. IT HAS ONLY ONE NEED— A CHARMING HOSTESS LIKE YOURSELF!
WE WILL ENTERTAIN A FEW TRUSTED FRIENDS —EXTEND HOSPITALITY TO SOME OTHERS! NO ONE WILL MOLEST US.
IN OTHER WORDS, A HIDE-AWAY FOR FIFTH COLUMNISTS...
...OR A HEADQUARTERS FOR HEROES—DEPENDING ON WHICH SIDE OF THE AXIS FENCE YOU HAPPEN TO BE ON....RIGHT, PRINCE?
CORRECT!
MEL GRAFF
THE CHATEAU IS NOT FAR FROM HERE.. MY CAR IS WAITING. COME, SAVANNAH!
MEANWHILE...A FEW MILES AWAY.
GENTLEMEN, DON YOUR GARDENING CLOTHES! I HAVE JUST RECEIVED WORD THAT PRINCE CAESAR IS ON HIS WAY.
BUT, MAJOR, VY MUS' VEE GO TROO MIT DIS FARCE? DER BRINCE KNOWS WHO VEE ARE!
HE IS BRINGING AN AMERICAN GIRL...DO AS I SAY!
HOW DO WE SPEND OUR TIME AT THE CHATEAU? WE RAISE PRIZE DAHLIAS, MY DEAR! I EMPLOY A STAFF OF HORTICULTURAL EXPERTS!
MEL GRAFF
SAVANNAH, THIS IS THE CHATEAU, WHERE YOU WILL ACT AS HOSTESS! DOES IT PLEASE YOU?
IT'S DELIGHTFUL, PRINCE CAESAR!
THESE ARE MR AND MRS. JACKS, MY HOUSEKEEPERS...WILL YOU SHOW MISS SALEM TO HER ROOM, MRS JACKS?
COME WITH ME, MY DEAR.
WELL...WHY DID YOU BRING THIS AMERICAN GIRL HERE?
MAJOR, I ASSURE YOU —I HAD TO DO IT!
SHE CAME TO ME IN WASHINGTON WITH CREDENTIALS FROM YOUR PEOPLE ABROAD...IF SHE IS UNTRUSTWORTHY, THIS IS THE SAFEST PLACE TO GET RID OF HER!
K-K-KH!
MEL GRAFF
JUST AS YOU SUSPECTED! THE AMERICAN GIRL IS NOT TO BE TRUSTED — SHE HAS PLACED SOME SORT OF DOCUMENT UNDER HER PILLOW!
WE MUST SEIZE THAT PAPER, BERTA!
HOURS LATER...
WE WERE MISTAKEN! SHE IS MORE THAN LOYAL...BEHOLD THIS PICTURE OF OUR BELOVED FUEHRER!

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

YOU KNOW, HANNA, EVERY DAY WHEN I COME TO WORK ON MY VICTORY FARM, IT MAKES ME FEEL GLAD ALL OVER JUST TO LOOK AT IT—
'CAUSE IN THE NIGHT-TIME I KINDA WORRY THAT MAYBE RABBITS OR BUGS HAVE SNEAKED UP IN THE DARK AN' ARE EATIN' UP ALL MY CROP—
YOU KNOW, IF YOU HAVE A HOUSE OR A STORE YOU CAN LOCK ALL THE DOORS AN' WINDOWS AN' THEN YOU DON'T HAVE TO WORRY MUCH WHILE YOU'RE ASLEEP—
DARRELL McCLURE
BUT YOU CAN'T LOCK UP A FARM—ONE NIGHT I DREAMT A LOTTA COWS WAS ON MY FARM, EATIN' ALL MY CARROTS—AN' WHEN I WOKE UP I WAS TERRIBLE SCARED AN' COULDN'T SLEEP ANY MORE ALL NIGHT LONG!
HA, HA—IT WAS THE FUNNIEST THING—WE WERE WALKIN' ALONG, AND—— AN' WHAT?
WHAT HAPPENED? IS THERE SOMETHIN' WRONG? WHY DID YOU—
S-S-SH!—LOOK BEHIND YOU!!
IT'S OKAY, NOW—THAT MAN IS WALKIN' AWAY
DARRELL McCLURE
GEE, THAT SCARY-LOOKIN' MAN FRIGHTENED ME SOMETHIN' AWFUL.
HE LOOKED LIKE A GREAT, BIG HUNGRY DOG WATCHIN' A FAT LITTLE RABBIT
THERE'S THAT SCARY-LOOKING MAN AGAIN—HE LOOKS LIKE HE WAS MAD AT MR. OLIVER!!
BUT MR. OLIVER'S NOT SCARED—SEE—HE'S SMILING
HE MUST BE DOIN' SOME KIND OF BUSINESS WITH MR. OLIVER
MY GOODNESS, ANNIE—MAYBE HE'S COME HERE TO ADOPT AN ORPHAN!!
GEE—I NEVER THOUGHT OF THAT—LET'S GET AWAY FROM HERE, QUICK, BEFORE HE SEES US!
DON'T BE SCARED—HE CAN'T SEE THROUGH ALL THESE BUSHES
DARRELL McCLURE
I DON'T THINK HE WANTS TO ADOPT ANYBODY—FROM THE WAY HE LOOKS, I BETCHA HE JUST HATES CHILDREN
I WOULDN'T WANT A FATHER THAT CARRIES A GREAT, BIG KNOBBY STICK ALL THE TIME!
SPRINKLING IS LOTSA FUN—WHEN I GROW UP I WANNA BE A PERFESSIONAL SPRINKLER—'CAUSE FLOWERS AN' VEGETABLES GOTTA HAVE WATER OR THEY'LL DIE—AN' WHEN IT DON'T RAIN MUCH, THEY GET TERRIBLE THIRSTY
LOOK! YOU CAN TELL THE CARROTS FEEL GLAD ALL OVER WHEN YOU SPRINKLE WATER ON 'EM
THE POOR WILD FLOWERS—THEY'RE JUST LIKE ORPHANS WITH NOBODY TO TAKE CARE OF 'EM—NO MATTER HOW THIRSTY THEY ARE, NOBODY CARES—THEY JUST HAVE TO WAIT UNTIL A RAINY DAY COMES
DON'T COME IN, ANNIE—THAT SCARY-LOOKING MAN IS SNOOPING AROUND THE DINING-ROOM!!
SEE, HE'S LOOKING ALL AROUND
KEEP YOUR HEAD DOWN—HE MIGHT BE LOOKIN' FOR US
NOBODY KNOWS WHO HE IS, BUT HE SCARES ALL THE KIDS
I GET THE WIM-WAMS EVERY TIME I LOOK AT HIM
MAYBE HE'S NOT MAD AT ANYBODY—BUT WHEN HE LOOKS AT ME IT MAKES ME FEEL LIKE I WAS PASSING A HAUNTED HOUSE
DARRELL McCLURE
THE COOK IS ALWAYS TALKING ABOUT VITAMINS A AN' B—WHAT'S A VITAMIN? WHERE DO YOU FIND THEM, IN ALPHABET SOUP?
NO—VITAMINS ARE LITTLE THINGS SO SMALL YOU CAN'T EVEN SEE 'EM—BUT THEY'RE IN ALL KINDS OF FOOD—VITAMIN A IS IN ONE KIND AN' VITAMIN B IS IN ANOTHER
SO YOU GOTTA EAT LOTSA DIFFERENT KINDS OF MEAT AN' VEGETABLES TO GET ALL THE VITAMINS THAT ARE GOOD FOR YOUR HEALTH
DARRELL McCLURE
NOW WHAT ARE YOU LAFFIN' AT? VITAMINS AREN'T FUNNY!
HA, HA—FROM NOW ON I AM GOING TO LIVE ON HASH
